Third Person in Monday Crash Dies of Injuries

Seymour Driver's Wife, 70, Succumbs; Son's Condition Fair

Mrs. Frank Rudzinski, 70, 325 Ivory St., Seymour, died Wednesday evening as a result of injuries she received in a two-car collision Monday night on State 47 north of Black Creek.

Two others, including the woman's husband, and Marshall Zueleger, 30, route 1, Black Creek, also died of injuries in the crash.

Frank Rudzinski Jr., 46, of Seymour, a passenger with his mother in the car driven by his father, is in fair condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Raises Toll to 16
The death of Mrs. Rudzinski raises the Outagamie County highway fatality toll to 16, one more than on this date last year. According to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, the triple fatality was the first since October, 1963 when three volunteer firemen were killed in a fire truck-car collision near Kaukauna.

There have been two double fatal accidents this year. Kemps said a pathological examination has shown that Zueleger did not suffer heart failure, but died as a result of injuries received in the crash. Zueleger died about two hours.

Many Casualties Inflicted At Vietnamese Outpost Guarding Storage Facility

BY EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong attack on a big aviation fuel dump near the Da Nang Air Base will not affect seriously U. S. air strikes an American military spokesman said. Military authorities said the hit-and-run guerrillas destroyed two of the nine storage tanks in the complex early today and heavily damaged two others with an estimated loss of one million gallons of fuel.

All fuel for jets and propeller-driven planes operating from the big Da Nang base comes in by ocean-going tanker and is transferred to the harbor-side storage complex operated by Esso Standard East. It is stored there until railroad cars transfer it to the base 10 miles to the southwest.

Large fuel dumps are located at the air base, however. The spokesman said it is believed they contain enough for immediate fuel needs. It was the boldest attack in the Da Nang area since Communist squads hit the base itself a little more than a month ago and destroyed three planes.

U.S. warships shelled the hills surrounding the storage complex two nights ago after a report was received that the Viet Cong was readying an attack on the Esso facility.

Just before noon today a Viet Cong mine derailed a railway engine a mile and a half from the oil storage tanks. The engine apparently was going to pull a line of tankcars from the storage dump. No injuries were reported.

Premier Resigns After Losing Confidence Vote In Greece's Parliament

Constantine Asks Novas to Remain In Office During Political Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier George Athanasiadis Novas resigned today after his defeat in a stormy parliamentary vote of confidence. In an unexpected move, King Constantine asked him to remain in office pending a solution of Greece's political crisis.

Most observers had thought the king would accept the resignation immediately and name a new premier. His request to Athanasiadis Novas to remain in office temporarily indicated the king was undecided on his next step.

Before his overthrow in Parliament early today, Athanasiadis Novas suggested that Constantine call the leaders of all political parties together to discuss the crisis.

The outgoing premier said today the king had decided not to call a council of the party leaders but to consult with them individually.

Dirksen to Try Again With Amendment to Reapportionment Bill
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says he will try again for Senate approval of his constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment, despite Wednesday's defeat.

The margin of defeat — seven votes short of the requisite two-thirds majority — was greater than had been expected. But when the Senate Republican leader was asked whether he was giving up, he replied, "A loud no."

Dollar Price of Gold In England Pushed Up

LONDON (AP) — The dollar price of gold jumped 1.875 cents an ounce on the bullion exchange today to $35.1925 — the highest since November 1961.

Dealers said there was a very good demand from speculators who appeared to be gambling once again that the pound sterling will be devaluated.

Much of the demand came from European financial centers.

Official Price
The official price of gold is $35 an ounce.

The pound again came under pressure on the monetary exchange. At the opening the price for immediate delivery slumped one-eighth of a cent from Wednesday night's closing $2.79-32 to $2.79 1-32.

A few buying orders came in then and shortly before noon the price rose 1-32 of a cent.

David Sarnoff, Dynamic Dream-Doer

Two-Hour Work-Days Foreseen by Industrial Prophet

By MAGGIE SAVOY
NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. David Sarnoff sat in his gadget-operated office and stared into the 21st century.

He saw homes run by finger-touch, with 20 years of light, heat, cooling power buried in a suitcase-sized battery in the basement.

Planes winging 5,000 miles an hour overhead; freight shot across the continent by missile.

Food enough for all will be harvested from the sea and outer space. Someone will punch a button and it will rain; the great deserts of the world will be in bloom; hurricanes will be turned around and headed back to sea.

Man working only two hours a day; living past the biblical three score 10 toward the five-millennia.

Many of today's miracles — radar, television, electronics, space shots, satellite television, machines that store giant masses of information and solve intricate equations with the speed of a computer — were translated into being by this dynamic dreamer-doer, born the first son of a poor Russian trader about 2,000 A.D.

"All these things are possible by 2,000 A.D. from the development of scientific discoveries already made," says Sarnoff, 74, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America. "Whatever the mind of man visualizes, the genius of modern science can turn into fact."

Neither, an inventor nor a scientist, Sarnoff is a catalyst, a man who has made many prophesies, then forged and made them come true.

In 1915, when the wireless was still a "contraption," he foresaw music boxes in every home. In 1921, shortly after RCA was formed and he became its commercial manager, he talked his bosses into risking $2,000 to develop a "music box."

Today 228 million radios are in use in homes, automobiles, coat pockets, under the sea and in space.

In 1923 he said, "Television will come to pass in due time." Sixteen years and $20 million later, he — then president of the future.

"To put it bluntly," he warns, "either all men learn to live and work together, or all men perish together. Science awaits man's commands — commands that can lead to utter destruction or turn all the world toward greater civilization."

Congratulates Congress

President Plans Ceremonial Signing for New Voting Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A voting rights bill which President Johnson says "brings within our immediate vision the day when every American can enter a polling booth without fear or hindrance" needs only his signature to make it law.

The President will choose the time and place to make the signing a ceremonial landmark in the achievement of civil rights for Negroes.

The Senate, suddenly speeding up its procedures, gave the final congressional approval to the bill Wednesday night, 79 to 18, and the President went to the Capitol to extend congratulations in person.

Johnson to Sign Bill at Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will go to the Capitol Friday to sign into law his Negro voting rights bill.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced today that Johnson will sign the bill at noon, with his Cabinet on hand.

The signing will come on the 104th anniversary of a ceremony in which President Abraham Lincoln signed at the Capitol a bill giving freedom to slaves employed by Confederates in carrying out the Civil War.

Moyers said Friday's ceremony will be open to live coverage by radio and television.

Taylor Turns in Last Viet Nam Accounting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Combining hope for the future with acknowledgement of "serious problems" in Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor turns in his final ambassadorial accounting today to a top ranking panel at the White House.

On Capitol Hill the administration moved to the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee with its plea for $1.7 billion more plus a 340,000-man military manpower boost to gird for the Southeast Asian war.

President Johnson got a two-hour briefing from Taylor late Wednesday. Johnson said he was so impressed by the retiring ambassador's knowledge from his year in Saigon that he called a whole array of administration policymakers to today's 4:45 p.m. EST session.

Senior Adviser
The President also announced he has asked Taylor to be a senior adviser to the President on military and diplomatic matters and has named him to the intelligence board which supervises U.S. intelligence activities.

Taylor, 63, onetime Army chief, was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff when Johnson sent him to South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S.

McNamara, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, Henry Cabot Lodge, Taylor's successor in the Saigon post, and other senior diplomatic, military and intelligence officers were called in for Taylor's report.

"The future," Taylor told newsmen after seeing Johnson, "is certainly far more hopeful than it was a year ago."

He said he left South Viet Nam last week "feeling far from discouraged, although I recognize the serious problems we have — problems that are military, civilian and international in character."

Alone in Viet Cong Territory
First Raider Mission Reveals Guerrilla Trail

By JOHN T. WHEELER
HAN SON CHA Island, South Viet Nam (AP) — The American Marines stirred small swirls of phosphorescent light as they paddled silently through the South China Sea on their first raider mission of the Viet Nam war.

Driving rain engulfed the seven rubber boats as they were launched from a Navy landing craft at 9:30 p.m. About 900 yards from the mountainous island where intelligence had reported a Viet Cong infiltration station, intelligence also had said that 100 or more Communist guerrillas might be on the island 12 miles north of Da Nang.

The 54 Marines were on their own. If they hit a strong Viet Cong force, no help could come before dawn — more than nine hours away.

Capt. Patrick Collins of Grosse Ile, Mich., commanded the raiding party from his reconnaissance company.

Blessing of Rain
"The damn rain's a blessing," he said. "We should make it close to shore without being seen."

The dim mountain mass of Han Son Cha loomed ahead. A Marine rifleman muttered, "Thank God we don't have to do this every night."

Then all talking ceased except the whispered commands from Collins and the coxswains in the rubber rafts, strung out at five-yard intervals.

Many of the men were new to the reconnaissance outfit, replacements for a unit that has suffered proportionally higher casualties than any other single American combat unit in Viet Nam.

Easy Target
The rain slackened and then stopped.

Ahead was a narrow beach. One boat with a machine gun lashed onto the bow went in ahead as scout. During the agonizing moments that followed an enemy could have wiped out the small party with ease.

Then a red light flashed from the beach. The way was clear.

The small boats formed in two lines three abreast and the paddlers moved swiftly over the last 50 yards of water. The Marines beached their boats and charged inland to take up defensive positions.

Two elements were sent out on night patrol to fix if possible any Viet Cong camp on the mile-square but mostly straight up and down island. The remainder rotated watches and slept on the beach.

Renewed rain made life miserable and sleep difficult.

Reconnaissance companies are made up wholly of volunteers. Their primary job is not to engage the enemy directly but to move in small units seeking out his positions, plot his movements and then get back to headquarters with the information.

Willing Men
Raider missions also are assigned to recon men because of their high level of training and willingness to take risks.

At 6 a.m. two fresh patrols were sent out. One headed by Lt. Carmine S. Del Grosso of Manhattan, New York, was to cover the western half of the island. After passing by the crest of the 225-foot tallest peak, Del Grosso split his group in two.

Gunnery Sgt. Daniel H. Miller of Reading, Pa., went down toward the rocky coast to check for caches in caves while the rest of the element searched tangled jungle along the steep slopes.

Miller, part American Indian and veteran of both World War II and Korea, moved cautiously, examining trails to see how long ago branches had been cut and picking up odd clues left by earlier visitors, for examination by intelligence experts at Da Nang. A heavy overcast blocked out the sun.

Short Ration
"Otherwise we would be sucking the bottoms of our canteens by 2 o'clock," Miller said.

Each Marine had two quarts of water. On clear days an average soldier goes through five or six canteens.

The day's search turned up no Viet Cong but unearthed a concealed Communist trail up one side of the mountain mass. One Marine was evacuated by helicopter after he was attacked by a swarm of bees. A second deeply slashed his leg while cutting through the undergrowth with a machete.

Collins is convinced the tactic will help in the future. In part it plays the Viet Cong's own game — striking swiftly and unexpectedly and pulling out before the enemy can mass large forces for a counterattack.

4,951 More Voters Register in New York
NEW YORK (AP) — The city signed 4,951 new voters during the first two weeks of its summer registration drive, a spokesman says.

He said that 2,853 persons were enrolled last week at 10 mobile units stationed throughout the city. This compares with 2,098 signed up the first week.

Bill on Branch Banking May Be Delayed
Further Study of Assembly-Approved Measure Advised

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Sidetracking of the pending branch banking bill by committing it to an interim study committee has been proposed by a powerful state senate committee.

Such a proposal was offered in the final hours of the legislative session last weekend, it was disclosed today. It drew considerable interest because it came from the senate committee on labor, taxation, insurance and banking, headed by Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, to which the proposal was referred.

To the extent that the proposal for delay indicates some doubts about the assembly-approved measure by Lorge and the committee, it may suggest a doubtful outlook for the controversial bill when the houses reconvene to complete their calendars in October.

New York Beauty Loses Title in Universe Contest

By TERRI SHAW

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Jon charges her title as Miss New York State in the Miss Universe contest was taken away because she is a Negro. But the contest director says she broke her contract and race was not a factor.

The argument broke out Monday night and about the only thing the disputants agreed on is that there will be no Miss New York State for this year.

First Negro

Miss Jon, 24, who lives in Manhattan, won the state contest May 20. She was the first Negro to win the title.

She was among 15 finalists for the Miss Universe title last month at Miami Beach.

Ted Marshall, contest director who owns the New York franchise in the Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe contests, said "there's nothing racial here at all." He confirmed the title had been taken from Miss Jon, but said "it's strictly contractual."

In a letter to the 5-foot-5 beauty, he told her:

"You have not fulfilled, nor seemed to have the spirit to fulfill the obligations you took on when you personally signed the official entry form of Miss Universe and the official contract of the New York State Beauty Pageant."

No Appearances

Marshall said Miss Jon had failed to show up for personal appearances he had arranged. He also said she violated her contract by appearing in advertisements for a hair preparation.

In a news conference Monday night in the offices of her attorney, Alfred J. Hemlock, Miss Jon said she had publicized the don't know why. "Miss Jon said, 'It has thrown all my plans out of whack.'"

It was revealed Wednesday that Miss Jon has been asked to choose a panel of three prominent Negroes to determine whether the Miss New York State title was taken from her because she is a Negro.

The offer came Monday from Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., Ted Marshall, who holds the state's Miss Universe contest franchise. He has denied Miss Jon's charge that race was the factor in stripping her of the title. He said she failed to fulfill her contract for fashion shows, singing auditions and modeling assignments.

Marshall said he would be willing to be bound by the findings of three arbitrators whether Miss Jon, 24, is entitled to regain her crown.

He suggested a panel of entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., Rep. 36-22-35, claimed Marshall told her he was surprised that a Negro girl had won the contest.

"I feel that under the circumstances Mr Marshall had led Jon's charge that race was the wedding followed by dinner. We are having quite a discussion about this and many said it isn't necessary to reply. Please tell me what is proper.

Louise Davis Answers:

If there is no request for a reply to a wedding reception invitation, there is no need to write an acceptance or regret. Because your invitation involves dinner, I am surprised that the bride's parents didn't include an R.S.V.P. in your case, I definitely would reply in case the omission was an oversight. However, you can be sure that others will fail to do anything. The absence of the R.S.V.P. makes me think that the reception will include dinner, buffet style. Caterers have a professional way of computing the percentage from the number of people invited which, under normal conditions is about 85 percent. A buffet dinner is flexible when, for example, ten more or ten less doesn't matter. But a sit down affair requires that the exact number of people be counted for the food order, place settings, chairs and other necessary equipment. Of course I am only guessing that your reception will be buffet but it does make sense as long as there was no request for a reply.

Louise Davis has prepared a wedding guide as a service to her readers. For a copy send self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents to her care of The Post-Crescent.

Style Show Crowns Mad Hatters Day Program

Playgrounders Found That their new hats gave them completely new personalities, and they paraded them to advantage at Tuesday's style show. Rachel Hassler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hassler; Jeff Kuehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kuehl, and Marsha Loerke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Loerke, watch Tracy Hoppe model her costume. Tracy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hoppe.

Colored paper and feathers, bits of string and bottles of paste, scraps of felt, bows and tassels.

Of such as these were wonderful hats contrived. This was Mad Hatters week at the Appleton playgrounds, and the youngsters spent hours Monday working out headgear emulating that worn by famous personages of the past or just plain fun hats for the present.

Pirates, clowns, cowboys, pilgrims and ladies of fashion sprang to life under the imaginative fingers of the youngsters.

To 'cap' the proceedings, the playgrounders wore their hats at parties Tuesday afternoon. Many wore costumes that completed the look they had chosen. Several playgrounds had style shows and parades.

The photos here were taken Monday and Tuesday at Northside Kiwanis Park.

CLINTONVILLE—Cadettes of Girl Scout Troop 138 have been assisting in a program of planned activities for retarded persons over 16 years of age.

Under the sponsorship of the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children, a pilot program of weekly activities began early this spring. The Clintonville Jaycees have contributed the use of their clubhouse for the Monday afternoon meetings.

A committee was formed to administer the program. It is composed of Mrs. Violet Vitanen, president of the county association, representing the association; Mrs. Ray Phillips, chairman of the afternoon sessions; Mrs. Ray Nath, representing the parents; Harry Kegler, the Jaycees, and Frank DiCristina, guidance counselor at Junior High School.

Ten retarded are active in the weekly events planned for them. The Cadettes have assisted in various ways with activities at the clubhouse. For the last two Mondays they have had complete charge of the sessions. There are 15 Cadettes in the troop. Mrs. Clifford Rafolt is the leader.

On July 26, the Cadettes entertained the retarded at a picnic at Walter A. Oien park. This week the Cadettes entertained the group at Donaldson's Alley. The management donated the use of bowling facilities and also served food and soft drinks.

Bowling was a new experience for the retarded. Nine attended the event and the girls assisted each in the fun and excitement of bowling.

Two or three Cadettes volunteer their services at each weekly session. Members of the troop are Mary Carol Rindt, Mary Lendved, Judy Wanta, Peggy Hedike, Debra Caskey, Cynthia Zuhse, Kay Viitanen, Mary Hoffman, Debra Sell, Kim Johnson, Mary Ellen Martens, Rae Heidersheid, Jackie Rogalski, Cheryl Kasuboski and Kathy Sasse.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

To Show the Knee

With few exceptions, fashion designers show their fall collections with hemlines turned above the knees. This happened, to a lesser degree, in the 1920's. Then, as now, the pros and cons of knee-revealing lengths have so much interest for a long time in fashions-to-come, so early. Do you suppose that piquing interest is the idea behind the hiked line? If so, it has certainly clicked.

But will it boomerang? Indications are that the young set is all for abbreviation, excepting those members with unshowable knees. In fact the kids turned up their hems when the trend was more whim than reality.

Mature View

Most mature women hold other views. They are outraged, or amused, or couldn't care less. Whatever the viewpoint, it separates the women from the girls. And perhaps it's a good thing. Girls will be girls, and women will be women. Both charming!

Ideally a woman looks young, but not youngsterish. In an era of short skirts, the place for a woman's hemline is the highest point on the leg that looks becoming and graceful. It usually occurs just below the knee.

Actually the factor in fashion that most often differentiates between youth and sophistication is detail. It's all in the way you wear it. So why not wear it in the way that is best for you?

Mowers Need Care

Even power lawn mowers need occasional washing care! Folks in the know recommend that the underdeck of a rotary-type mower benefits from being washed with soap or detergent suds, then wiped dry with an absorbent cloth.

The Ailing House Causes Differ for Peeling

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Not long ago, I calcimined the walls of a basement closet. It has already begun to peel. What caused this?

A: It's either a case of not thoroughly cleaning off all the old calcimine first, or putting it on in too thick a coat. Either of these will result in peeling. I'm assuming there are no leaks, which could also cause this trouble.

Q: We are planning to build our first home, shortly. Necessarily it will be quite small, so appliance space will be at a premium. What is the minimum safe size for a hot water heater?

A: Are you planning to have a clothes washer-dryer and a dishwasher? If so, you'll need at least a full size larger than without these appliances (which are such wonderful wife-savers, however!).

In general, a usually safe capacity is a 30-gallon size for a one or two bedroom house, a 40-gallon size for two to three bedrooms. But if you can afford the space, you may be glad in the future you put in a heater which is a bit larger than your estimated minimum needs.

Q: Apparently tree roots growing into our sewer pipe have caused it to become so clogged the drainage is very slow. What, if anything, can I do about this?

A: If the drain has actually slowed that noticeably, don't fool around trying root-dissolving chemicals. Have a plumber cut out the growth with his electric root cutter (and pray that he can reach the obstruction with the cutter without having to dig down through the lawn or break up a concrete patio floor in order to get at the trouble).

Once the roots have been removed, it's a simple matter to keep down future growth. Hardware stores sell root-dissolving chemicals which you simply flush down any fixture last thing at night.

Do this every three weeks during the growing season, and every three months at other times. While these chemicals will dissolve root growth in the pipe itself, they don't harm any of the rest of the roots outside. So there's no danger to a decorative shrub or tree.

Count Wins And Losses For Hand
It isn't enough to count your losers when you are playing a difficult hand at a trump contract. Count your winners as well. You may find that you need more winners, even though the first fast count of losers is reassuring.
South thought he would lose only one club and two hearts. He ruffed the second club.

drew three rounds of trumps and led a heart. East won with the king of hearts and shrewdly returned a club.
Declarer ruffed with dummy's last trump, discarding a heart, and forced out the ace of hearts. West returned another club, punching out South's last trump.
South now had the ten - five of hearts and had to give up the last trick to West's nine of hearts or to East's good diamond. Down one.
Fast Assumption
South should not assume that he has only two heart losers. This is true only if he manages to ruff a heart or two in dummy. For this reason he cannot afford to draw trumps.
After ruffing the second club South should lead hearts at once. If East returns a club, dummy can ruff and will still have enough trumps to ruff a heart or two.
South can give up a heart, can ruff a heart in dummy with the ace of trumps and can draw trumps and claim the rest of the tricks.
South can make the contract by going after dummy's diamonds instead of his own hearts (although this is an inferior line of play). He can ruff the second club, cash the top diamonds and ruff a diamond.
He cashes the king and ace of spades, ruffs another diamond, and will eventually ruff in dummy to draw the last trump and cash the good diamond.
The important thing is to get the side suit started before drawing trumps.
Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold S 7 5 4 H A 9 8 3 D 10 7 C A K J 6. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid two clubs. You have enough strength for game, opposite an opening bid, but you are not yet sure of the best contract. If partner rebids the spades, you will go to game in spades. If he bids diamonds, you will suggest game in notrump.

50th Wedding Anniversary Observed

WITTENBERG — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jannusch observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at a religious observance at St. Paul Lutheran Church. The Rev. A. Victor Suehs officiated. A dinner for relatives was served at the church. An Open House was held there from 3 to 5 p.m.
Mr. and Mrs. Jannusch were married Aug. 5, 1915, at the Evangelical Emmanuel Lutheran Church, New London. Mrs. Arthur Lasch, New London, an attendant at the wedding, was present for the event.
The couple farmed in the Town of Birnamwood for 12 years. Mr. Jannusch was an insurance agent until he retired five years ago.
Mr. and Mrs. Jannusch have two children, Mrs. Willmer Werth, Wausau, and the Rev. Merton Jannusch, Green Bay. They also have four grandchildren.

Delinquency Factor

Teen-age acne may be one cause of juvenile delinquency, according to Dr. Lillis F. Altshuler who is a Cincinnati pediatrician.
Reporting to a seminar at the New York Academy of Sciences, Dr. Altshuler stated that young people who take pride in their appearances are less likely to rebel and get into trouble. This indicates that soapsuds, hair-cuts, and freshly-laundered clothes can go a long way toward turning troublesome teens into solid citizens.

Your Problems

Check-Out Tomato Complains Fruit Manager Is Too Fresh

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 and working as a check-out girl in a neighborhood supermarket. I enjoy the work but I am having a problem. The manager of fruits and vegetables

has a fresh mouth. This old goat has children who are older than I am and he makes me so mad I want to paste him in the teeth.

He always has something personal to say. All week long he's been following me around whispering, "I had a wonderful dream about you last night. Would you like to hear about it?" I walk away from him but he tags along and keeps talking.

I wish I had a real sharp answer to put him in his place. Please, Ann, help me. — Inexperienced

DEAR IN: The next time the old geezer asks if you want to hear about his dream say, "No — but I'll bet my father would like to hear about it. Shall I ask him to call you?" If this doesn't wilt his lettuce speak to the store manager.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You usually come right out and let the meddlers, scoundrels, pests, nags and cheapskates have it right between the eyes. But there's one group you haven't hit very hard and I'd like to do it for you. I'm talking about grown kids who don't want their fathers to remarry — for selfish reasons.

I never saw it to fail. If Dad has no money the kids are always pushing the old man to marry some nice woman who will take care of him in his old age so they won't get stuck.

If Dad has money they don't want him to get married because it cuts down their share. I've seen this happen many times among my older friends and it's a shame. My brother listened to his selfish kids. They got him to ask the woman he was going with to settle for $10,000 if he should die first. The woman told him to forget he ever knew her.

Funny thing, Ann, she died two years later and left a big estate. Please print this. It could open a few eyes. — Old Salty

DEAR SALT: A father who would allow selfish children to talk him out of a second marriage for financial reasons deserves a lonely old age — which is usually what he gets.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 60. My husband is 68. I've worked at a steady job for 40 years because we never had any children. I wanted to adopt but my husband refused to take a stranger's child into the house.

Facts, Fables of Hay Fever

Sneezes and sniffles aren't nuisances of winter months alone. Seven and one-half million Americans, victims of hay fever, suffer through summer with the same drippy nose people generally associate with the other half of the year. Their state of discomfort begins in mid-June and lasts until after the first frost of autumn.

Hay fever has a long and somewhat amusing history. In 1819 a London physician with typical hay fever discomforts noted how others began to sniffle and sneeze in June, at the start of the haying season, just as he did. He also noted they continued to do so until after the hay had been stacked. His studies all pointed at the hay fields as sources of the common misery. Hay fever was thus named, although the symptoms actually had nothing to do with hay.

The Unwanted Weed

Not until 1831 was pollen suspected as the real culprit. Another 40 years passed before a professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School pinpointed the cause as ragweed.

Ragweed, a name hay fever sufferers abhor, has survived over 170 million years! The plant can grow in poorest soil and in almost all climates. There is little that can be done to quell the pollen ejections that send the invisible irritating particles through the air. Ragweed pollen is so light it can travel over 100 miles in a good wind.

Nearly every hay fever sufferer has tried treatments to relieve discomforts that plague him. And practically every treatment has been suggested at one time or another.

In 1831 a British physician who made the first prominent hay fever study advocated hypnosis to rid victims of their misery. It didn't work. The hypnotist lost his professional standing.

Before hypnosis, bleeding the patient was thought to be the best cure. Actually, after bleeding, the patient was often barely able to breathe at all!

In the 19th century, the recommended cure was nasal surgery.

Others maintained that if the victim of hay fever smoked strong tobacco until he became violently ill, he could clear breathing passages.

Other Remedies

Among other popular remedies of past days are arsenic, chloroform, quinine and tartar emetic.

Until well into the 20th century it was thought that hay fever never affected the poor but was a disease of the wealthy and fashionable. Of course, there aren't seven and one-half million rich Americans!

The history of hay fever is pathetically interesting. It is not an allergy to be ignored or passed over lightly. Hay fever sufferers may fall victim to serious and dangerous hearing and respiratory problems without proper medical attention. Don't rely on just an air-conditioner!

The Proposed New Service center for Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be erected on Midway Road in the Town of Menasha is shown in a sketch by the firm of Sauter-Seaborne Architects, Ltd. A capital funds campaign is underway for $170,270 to construct the 4,000 square foot facility as well as to provide needed water and sanitary system improvements at Gardner Dam Camp and the leader training center on Gibson Island near Clintonville. The sedvice center, which will include offices, conference room, staff rooms and storage space, is designed to meet administrative requirements for a projected membership of 9,000 scouts by 1970. Valley Council now has 5,293 scouts, an increase of 56 per cent over 1955.

Council to Guarantee Title of Land Going to Power Firm

Fröhlich Authorized to Update Abstract of Purchase Insurance

Guaranteeing the title of land the City of Appleton is selling to Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. was one of the few topics discussed at any length at a relatively quiet city council meeting Wednesday night.

The board of public works report included a recommendation that the city attorney be authorized to update the abstract of title for the property, originally intended as the site for a municipal garage.

Ald. Alvin Tews (5th) asked that this section be amended to give the city attorney authority to purchase an $87,000 title insurance policy for a $419 premium.
City Atty. Frederick Fröhlich said the public works board recommended the abstract instead of the insurance before he had seen the contract. The power company contract requires the insurance.

Ald. R. P. Groh (8th) said it was "ridiculous" to buy the insurance when the updated abstract would serve the same purpose.

The recommendation finally was amended to give Fröhlich authority to do either, pending a meeting with officials of the firm.

The report was unanimously adopted as amended.

Other action, as the council marched smoothly through the two-hour meeting, included:

—A second denial of a request to rezone property on the northeast corner of Oneida and Calumet Streets from single family residential to commercial and light manufacturing.

—Vacating the alley between
W. Commercial Street and W.
Winnebago Street, east of Gillett Street.

Rezoning Approved

—Approval of rezoning from two-family residential to multiple family residential the property at 552 N. Division St.

—Confirmation of various, special assessments for sanitary sewer and water main installation.

—Confirmation of the city's intent to exercise assessment powers for various public works projects, including sewer, water main and street work.

—Adoption of the report of the city plan commission, including temporary zoning for 168 acres in the Town of Buchanan for which the council later received an annexation petition. The petition was referred to the board of public works and to the plan commission.

Report Accepted

—Accepted the report of the welfare and ordinance committee except for an ordinance proposed by Ald. Al Stoebauer (4th) which would have banned parking on the north side of Washington Street from Richmond to Bennett between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday. That proposal was withdrawn at Stoebauer's request.

—Adopted without comment a report of the public safety committee which included a recommendation calling a meeting of the public safety committee and the parking commission for next Tuesday to discuss parking on College Avenue and truck loading zones in the central business district.

—Also accepted without comment reports and recommendations of the finance and personnel committees.

City Employees File 98 Compensation Claims First 7 Months of 1965

Employees of the City of Appleton have filed a total of 98 workmen's compensation claims since the first of the year, according to a report from the office of City Clerk Elden Broehm.

Of the 98 injuries, only 25 resulted in lost time, the report showed.

The fire department led with 25 claims filed. The police and sanitation departments each had 15. Others included water department, 12; street department, 11; sewer plant, five; park department, four; city home, four; recreation department, three; public works department, one and parking meter department, one.

One death was reported.
Other injuries included a wide range of injuries.

Appleton May Get Water Referendum

Mayor Expected to Call Council Meeting to Discuss Possibility

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell is expected to call a special city council meeting sometime next week to consider a possible referendum concerning the city's future water supply.

A condensation of various reports on water supplies in the Fox Valley area was to have been ready for a meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

However, Public Works Director Robert Bues said the project involved more work than he had initially expected and he was unable to complete it in time for the meeting.

Bues said the report should be complete and available to city officials by Monday afternoon.

Mitchell said that would give aldermen enough time to study the report, which is to be a synopsis of previous studies of water problems, before a special meeting he would call for Wednesday night.

Members of the Appleton Water Commission also would be present.

At that time, aldermen will consider placing some type of question on a referendum ballot for Sept. 14 when voters will face a referendum on whether

Valley Scout Fund Drive Begins Today

A $170,270 fund drive for the Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America will begin in Appleton at 4 p.m. today, and Monday in the Twin Cities.

The money will finance a new Valley Council service center on Midway Road in the Town of Menasha and improvements at Gardner Dam and the leader training center on Gibson Island. All the projects are needed to meet the growth of the Fox Cities scout movement.

Richard Van Sistine, manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., Appleton, will head the fund solicitation in the Appleton area, according to John R. Whitney, general chairman of the drive.

Van Sistine has recruited as his team captains Dr. Jack Anderson, Richard Stack, William Wenzel and Arthur Diedrich. Results will be reported at special meetings Wednesday and Aug. 17.

The Neenah-Menasha division of the drive will be headed by W. E. Gresenz, formerly of Kimberly-Clark, according to Whitney.

Gresenz will be assisted in starting the drive Monday by captains Dr. Thomas F. Alt, Adrian J. Kettenhofen, Allan
Williamson, Edmund C. Block and H. E. Kriekard.

No Action Needed for New Social Security Benefits

County Office Assures Residents Changes Are Automatic for Most

Although the 1965 Social Security amendments will cause a major change in Social Security programs, most persons will not have to take action to receive added benefits.

Social Security officials said today that only a limited number of people will have to act in order to protect their new benefit rights.

Officials of the Outagamie County Welfare Department said they have received no literature regarding the effect of the new provision on the Kerr-Mills program, which is a state-administered program aiding in the cost of medication.

Several inquiries have been received by the office, but authorities said they do not expect information on their part in the program until next month. The legislation became effective Friday.

Proposes Guidelines

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of Social Security, proposed some guidelines for persons affected.

He emphasized the 20 million people now receiving Social Security benefits do not need to take any action to get the increased cash benefit payments the law provides.

The amount of the increase for the months of January through August, 1965, will be paid to them in a separate check the latter part of September. The first regular checks reflecting the 7 per cent increase will be mailed early in October, covering September.

Social Security and railroad retirement beneficiaries now 65 or over will not need to take any action to secure their basic hospital protection under the new health insurance program.

Information Kit

All aged persons now on the rolls will receive in the mail a full information kit in September or October describing this protection, which becomes effective next July 1. Before the effective date a health insurance card certifying eligibility for the services will be sent automatically to beneficiaries 65 or over.

Social Security beneficiaries will not need to go to the Social

Appleton Man Found Guilty of Battery Count

WAUPACA — Alvin B. Thies, 21, 1209 N. Clark St., Appleton, was found guilty of battery Tuesday in Municipal Justice Court by Justice George Whalen.

After the ruling, Whalen set the fine at $100 and costs but stayed the sentence for five days pending an appeal to Circuit Court.

A second charge of disorderly conduct filed against Thies was dismissed on the recommendation of the district attorney.

Thies was arrested by county police after he was involved in a fight at the Casino July 12.
When he was arraigned July 13, Thies pleaded innocent to both charges.

Harlow Woodliff, 21 Waupaca, an employee at the Casino, was hospitalized with a cut eye for several days after the fight. It

Numerous Uses Considered for Old Port Site

A basic training site for beginning drivers and an experimental landing strip for an auto-gyro aircraft are two of the uses which are being considered for the old Outagamie County airport in the Town of Grand Chute.

Members of the county's insurance and property committee today are examining requests from county residents who want to put some of the land north of Appleton to use.

The Appleton Vocational School has requested permission to use the site for beginning drivers in the school's driving training program.

Herbert Meyer, Appleton, who assembled an experimental auto-gyro, is seeking permission to test his craft at the old site.

City of Appleton officials would like to move crushed rock several other firms are asking for permission to use buildings for storage.

Push Continues for 'No' Vote in Referendum

A group seeking to retain Appleton's system of electing city officials agreed Wednesday night to continue its efforts to get a "no" vote on a Sept. 14 referendum.

At the same time a dispute developed between the organization — the Committee for Election by Voters of Appleton City Officials — and the League of Women Voters, which supports the referendum.

The election-supporting group, headed by attorney Sarto Balliet, has opposed the referendum on the charter ordinance to appoint the clerk, treasurer, assessor and attorney since it was proposed.

Opinions Repeated

Opinions were repeated that to make the offices appointive would be taking control of the government from the hands of the voters.

The dispute with the League of Women Voters arose over a charge at Wednesday night's meeting that only nine women had been present at a meeting Tuesday night in which the Balliet said. "Nine women is hardly an example of this passing overwhelmingly," as the League said.

However, Mrs. Arch Hoffman, 627 E. Brewster, chairman of the Appleton League, denied Balliet's charge.

21 Members Present

"I don't know where he got that figure," Mrs. Hoffman said. "There were 21 members at our meeting. He might have confused the membership with the board, but even then, there were 11 board members present."

She said the League's board, by custom, formally votes on the consensus of the members.
Mrs. Hoffman also said she had heard someone from Balliet's committee complain that the members weren't polled.

"It couldn't have been a member of the league," she said, "because a member would have known that we never poll the membership."

Balliet said there were "behaved been present at a meeting assistant pastor of Holy Name of 200-Bed Hospital Can Function in 12 Hours

Civil Defense Field Medical Facility Is Unveiled for Area Personnel at Oshkosh

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
OSHKOSH—In the event that an area hospital is knocked out by natural disaster or nuclear attack a package type 200-bed hospital can be set up in a matter of 12 hours.

John Brennan, Civil Defense division, State Board of Health, Tuesday through today, is conducting an orientation at Winnebago State Hospital for area medical, Red Cross, police, Civil Defense, fire and governmental personnel.

In explaining the present set-up, Brennan said the units now stockpiled in 60 strategic locations statewide could operate for 30 days without a supply of medicines or other supplies.

80 Per Cent
It has been estimated that in the event of an enemy attack up to 80 per cent of the nation's 17 million hospital beds available may either be destroyed or their use denied for extended periods of time.

As a result, Brennan explained, the need for hospital facilities would be acute. The program was designed to furnish the package hospitals to either enhance existing facilities or to replace them if destroyed.

Based primarily on the Army Field Hospitals used World War II and the Korean conflict, the hospitals would give medical care when and where it was needed most, Brennan explained.

Complete Package
To be used in pre-determined structures such as schools or community centers, they are furnished by the U.S. Department of Public Health Service. The hospitals feature a complete medical care package. Included is admitting ward care, x-ray, three operating rooms, a laboratory, pharmacy, central supply, mortuary and administration facilities.

The 200-bed facilities located in the area include three each in Winnebago and Fond du Lac Counties, and one each in Appleton, Chilton, Waupaca, Waubesa, Shawano and Ripon for a total of 2,400 beds which can be available within 12 hours.

These 60 package hospitals were given to the Wisconsin State Board of Health, Civil Defense Division, which located them throughout the state. Total cost of each is $45,000 for a total of more than $2,700,000, he said.

The Wisconsin Board of Health was given the responsibility of medical care, public health and radiological welfare when the civil defense system was first being planned and the civil defense division was created to take care of it.

In charge of the statewide program is Louis Remily. Brennan said it was Remily's idea to send he and another man throughout the state to explain the function of the emergency units to better acquaint medical personnel who would be operating them in case of emergency.

As originally planned, the hospitals were located on outlying areas of the state's large metropolitan centers along the evacuation routes. Since then the concept has changed with the threat that an adequate warning will not be received to evacuate, so the hospitals have been moved closer to the centers and more added around the state.

The purpose of orienting the involved personnel is to enable them to become familiar with the various components, practice setting up the functional units and getting acquainted with the mechanics of them.

If the need for the hospitals ever arise, Brennan explained, patients needing minor first aid and those for whom a couple of minutes would save their life, such as clearing the air channel or a bleeding artery, would be treated first.

Patients requiring more time such as bone setting, surgery and other time consuming treatments would be given emergency on-the-spot first aid and then held over until the minor cases were out of the way, he said.

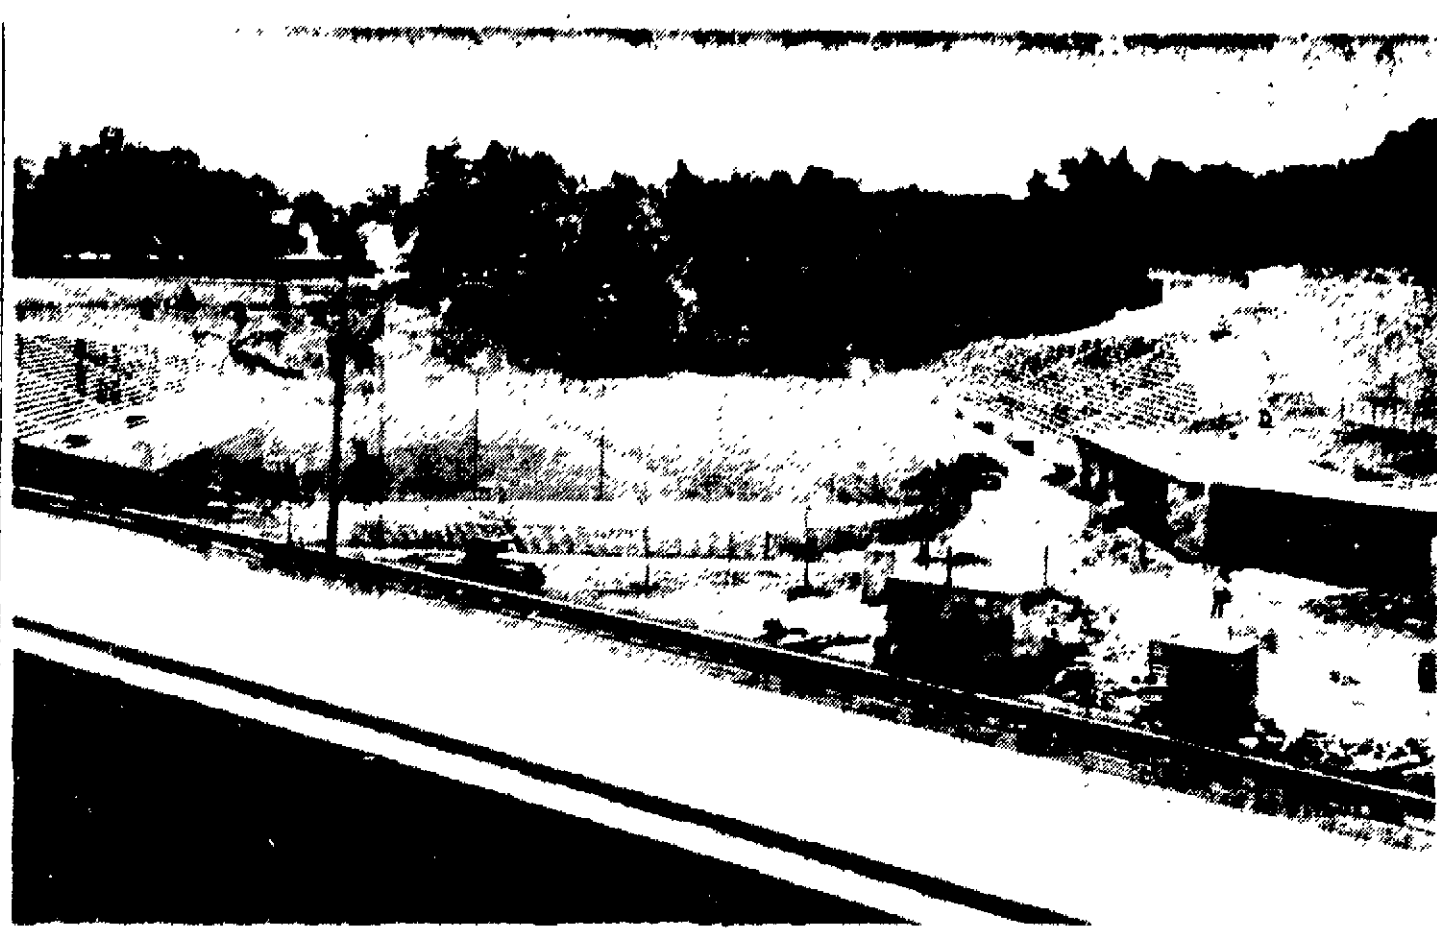

Congestion is avoided and as many as possible are treated in as short a time as possible, he said.

Three operating rooms, somewhat austere, but completely functional would take about a day longer to set up because of the sterilization of equipment and putting the more complicated equipment into operation.

Included in the hospital equipment are generators, pumps and storage tanks for an adequate water supply, antibiotics, heart and respiratory stimulants, intravenous solutions and facilities to take blood.

In the event the stockpiled supplies run out during a disaster, local suppliers such as drug stores, hospitals and drug houses would be scavenged for the supplies.

Supplies such as narcotics would be furnished by local sources since stockpiling of these is prohibited by the federal government, Brennan explained.

Reformatory Flight Ends as Car Overturns
CHILTON—An escapee from the Green Bay Reformatory, DePere was captured Wednesday night after the car he was driving rolled over off Calumet County Trunk G during a high-speed chase by a Chilton policeman.

Police Chief Daniel Albedyll said Michael Gumm, 19, Milwaukee, was treated for injuries to his elbow and returned to the reformatory about 3 a.m. today. Albedyll said the car which Gumm was driving had been reported stolen from Green Bay earlier in the evening and was being pursued by relief patrolman Henry Kiesner when the accident occurred.

Kiesner had seen the car enter Chilton on State 57 shortly after 11 p.m. and followed it through town. When he turned on his red light to pull the car to the curb for further investigation, the driver speeded up.

Harold T. Shannon, Green Bay Civic Leader Dies at 70
GREEN BAY — Harold T. Shannon, Green Bay businessman, civic leader and one of the foremost promoters of the city, died this morning at a local hospital following a long illness.

The 70-year-old native of Fort Howard began his many-faceted career as a reporter on the Green Bay Free Press in 1914 at the age of 19.

He was particularly noted for his promotion of special events. The first was a national tour with a new model Oneida truck shortly after World War I.

He also brought in top names in the music field while managing the Columbus Club. The top artists included Madame Schumann-Heink, John Phillip Sousa, the United States Marine Band, and Paderewski.

His biggest promotion is said to be during the 1934 centennial to have been during the 1934 centennial at which he arranged for President Franklin D. Roosevelt to attend.

Following his positions with the Oneida Truck Co., and the Free Press, Shannon was employed by the De Pere Journal Democrat, and the Appleton Post. He later became associated with Radio Stations WHBY, Appleton, and WIBA, the Madison Capital Times radio outlet.

Spice, who did not attend the health committee meeting but was asked to comment on the committee findings, said that a low jail population and lack of sheriff department manpower to take prisoners for the check-ups in the county sanitarium at Little Chute have curtailed the program. Cost of the program has been taken from the sheriff's department budget.

No Active Cases
Miss Marion Freemore, county nurse, said that in the three years of examinations, there has never been an active case of tuberculosis discovered among prisoners. She reported, however, that the activity sheet counting the number of prisoner examinations in the jail "has not been filed in several months."

Spice said that if a prisoner is confined in the jail "who may be considered a potential health hazard, he is immediately examined for tuberculosis."

He added that he has recommended a skin test to be administered at the jail on a weekly basis to all prisoners to save the effort of transporting prisoners to Little Chute on a sludge from the sewage treatment plant.

Outagamie County jail prisoners have not been taking part in a three-year-old program of tuberculosis control, and county authorities today wondered why.

Channel to be Cut Along Slough

NEENAH — Original plans for channeling the main course of the slough with sloping flood control banks was given the go-ahead by the council Wednesday night.

The plan for damming the slough at the Soo Line tracks, north of Main Street, in an effort to retain a larger supply of water in the slough works referred to the public works committee for further study.

Plans are to dredge a 40 foot channel along the west bank of the slough, establishing a permanent water way for the normal water flow. The existing banks, approximately 105 feet wide at the top, will be tapered is expected to get underway within a few days and is expected to be ready by the time school opens for the 1968-69 session.

The lights are designed to solve a traffic problem at the intersection which is one of the more heavily traveled in the community particularly when shift changes are recorded at Kimberly-Clark mill.

Industrial work shift changes often coincide with hours when youngsters are traveling to or from school which makes the intersection additionally hazardous.

Purchase Water Pipe
Approval was given to the purchase of 700 feet of 8-inch foot and 2,400 feet of 6-inch pipe at a cost of $2.08 per foot. The pipe will be utilized to provide service to the Miller plat and the extension of Charles Street.

Jansen Construction, Little Chute, was authorized to handle sidewalk repair projects in the village for the remainder of the summer at a bid price of 46 cents per square foot.

Members approved the appointment of James Van Asten as police patrolman. The new officer attended St. John High School, is a lifelong resident of the community and served as substitute and auxiliary police officer prior to his appointment.

Final payment of $6,035 to Henry Verbruggen and Sons Construction for the Hietpas plat lift station was approved.

Catholic Order to Hear Nicaraguan Missionary
The Catholic rder of Foresters, Court No. 182, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Appleton Catholic Club.

Father Daniel Kabat will tell members about his missionary work in Nicaragua, where he has been stationed since 1962. Father Kabat, the son of Bernard Kabat, Freedom, will return Aug. 20 to his work in the Rama area for the Capuchin Missions in the Vicariate of Bluefields, Nicaragua.

It was suggested that the specifications be designed so every dealer in the city can bid. A previous truck purchase was criticized because the specifications appeared to be drawn for a specific firm.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th), said he would agree with making the specifications general, providing it did not slow the process.

"We've been trying to get these trucks for a long time," he said.

When the council considered the report of the street and sanitation committee, Pointer asked that one recommendation be voted on separately.

That section advised the council to give the power company permission to install gas mains in several Appleton streets.

Pointer, chairman of the streets and sanitation committee, said he was voting against the measure because he had not received cooperation from the firm in a request to have a street light on Willow Court moved.

"And I'll continue to vote against these gas main installations until I get some cooperation," the alderman added.

Only Aids. Clifford Radder (16th) and Richard Kohlbeck (15th) joined Pointer in his protest vote.

Another section of that committee report which drew comment was one giving the department of public works authority to advertise for bids to save the effort of transporting for two dump trucks to haul sludge from the sewage treatment plant.

Knowles Kicks Off Pollution Campaign

Governor Declares He Would Not Hesitate to Call Special Session

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles has kicked off his campaign to curb water pollution in Wisconsin with the announcement he would "have no hesitation" in calling a special legislative session to consider the problem.

The governor made the remark Wednesday at a meeting with representatives of state agencies involved in studying and regulating water resources. During the four-hour briefing session, the agencies reported their present duties in the field and made recommendations on lessening water pollution.

An indication of a possible outcome of the campaign came when L. P. Voigt, Conservation Department director, mentioned that a plan to add another penny a pack cigarette tax to supplement the outdoor recreation act program (ORAP) had been discussed by Knowles, himself and others.

Research Allocation

He said consideration was being given to using part of the funds for implementing the provisions of a bill introduced by Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill. Krueger's proposal calls for appropriating $651,000 for water pollution research and data collection.

According to Voigt, a full-time staff for a natural resource and recreation commission, to replace the present Natural Resources Committee, also is being discussed.

The present penny a pack tax on cigarettes that goes into the ORAP fund is used for acquisition of land for state parks and recreational areas.

Knowles said after the meeting that no decisions have been made, and will not be until he can study the recommendations of a Governor's Committee on Wisconsin Water Resources. He is to name the members of the group in several days.

The meeting with the agencies is the first step in what Knowles has called an "all out attack" on water pollution. He said he would ask the committee to sponsor a two-day conference on water resources to "offer a forum for all Wisconsin officials and citizens to voice their concern and suggestions."

Most of the 12 agencies reporting to the governor indicated there were water pollution problems in the state, but their elimination was proceeding as quickly as possible.

Several rejected the idea of creating a new agency to oversee and coordinate the agencies' programs in water pollution. They said the Natural Resources Committee already was authorized to do this.

"There is utterly no need for an additional agency," said Dr. E. H. Jorris, state health officer. "If at any time the Legislature feels we're not doing a sufficient job, then give us more money to hire more staff."

Olson to Speak At YGOP Parley

RIPON (AP) — The Wisconsin college Young Republican summer workshop will be held Saturday and Sunday at Ripon College, with the list of speakers including former lieutenant governor Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells.

The state young GOP executive committee will meet Saturday.

Others slated to appear are Assemblyman William Steiger of Oshkosh and Ody Fish of Pewaukee, the state Republican chairman.

Youths Held for Disturbance at Kenosha Races

KENOSHA (AP) — Five youths have been turned over to juvenile authorities as the result of a disturbance Tuesday night in which four police officers were pushed around when they began to investigate beer drinking at the site of Kenosha's weekly bicycle races.

The disturbance, which found many persons in the crowd of some 700 jeering the officers, and none coming to the policemen's aid, brought a sharp statement today from Police Inspector Robert Bosman.

"The booing of police officers and the failure of adults to come to their assistance was an indictment of the people of Kenosha," adding that if residents wanted effective police protection they would have to offer support for it.

Two of the four officers were kicked as well as pushed, and the uniforms of all four were soiled and torn.

Hunt for Brothers Intensified

Pair Sought in Death Of Chicago Policeman

CHICAGO (AP) — Police intensified their search today for two brothers wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of a 17-year veteran of the Chicago police force.

Sgt. Charles Eichorst, 45, was fatally shot in the temple at close range Wednesday as he tried to prevent the robbery of a North Side supermarket. The slaying touched off what police described as the biggest manhunt in recent Chicago history.

Eichorst was near the Treasure Island Food Mart shortly after it opened at 9 a.m. when an unidentified person told him the store was being robbed.

He ran to the holdup scene and saw a man, apparently a look-out, outside the front entrance and ordered him to raise his hands and face the wall. As Eichorst started to search the man, the second robber dashed out of the store and shot the policeman. Police said Eichorst apparently never saw his assailant.

The gunman fled across a parking lot with an estimated $3,000 taken from the safe of the grocery. Police said all the money carried in a paper bag was recovered because the bag became torn and the currency dropped out.

Lt. John Glas, one of the officers in charge of the investigation, identified the two Negro brothers as Holice Black, 21,

Official Jailed For Financial Misstatement

Allied Development President Given Three-Year Sentence

MADISON (AP) — The president of Allied Development Corp. in Madison was sentenced Wednesday to three years in state prison for filing a false financial statement with the State Securities Department.

The sentence was imposed on Neil A. Woodington just six days after he and Robert C. Kelly, a former vice-president of the firm, were convicted of the charge.

Kelly, a resident of Fort Atkinson, received a three-year suspended sentence from Circuit Judge Russell E. Hanson of Fond du Lac.

In sentencing Woodington to three years—just two short of the maximum penalty, Hanson said:

Unbelievable Act

"The search for the gain of the dollar has led you to the commission of acts which are almost unbelievable."

A circuit court jury found Woodington and Kelly guilty of inflating Allied's cash on hand entry in a March 31, 1964 audit report with an application to sell almost $2 million in stock.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Earl H. Munson Jr. testified that the firm's cash account showed a balance of $224,356 when in reality there was a deficit of $143,643.

Hanson denied all defense motions to set aside the guilty verdict and grant a new trial.

and Richard Black, 20. He said the elder brother had a record of 10 arrests and had served six months in jail for car theft.

Glas said as the two robbers fled they stripped off their shirts in an effort to avoid recognition. He said a traffic ticket bearing Holice Black's name was found in a pocket of one shirt. Police said a check with relatives disclosed that Richard was with Holice early Wednesday morning.

Eichorst's partner, Phillip Tolan, wept as he described the shooting.

"Eichorst was the first to arrive," he sobbed. "Charlie was that kind of guy — he was always first in."

Eichorst, a sergeant since 1962, is survived by his widow, Jean, and two children, Charles R., 8, and Jill, 6.

Proxmire Urges House To Okay Bill for Study Of Seaway Ice Problem

Year-Round Great Lakes Shipping Would Reduce Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee was urged today by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to approve a study of how to keep the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway ice-free during the winter.

He said a Senate-passed bill, of which he is the author could lead to year-round shipping on the Great Lakes ports, thereby reducing unemployment and cutting transportation costs.

In a letter to the committee Proxmire said:

"In this age of science and progress, when the United States sends satellites into space and launches probes distant planets, it is unthinkable that a thin sheet of ice should continue to stand in way of year-round shipping the Great Lakes and the Lawrence Seaway."

"It is essential that comprehensive studies be conducted of all possible means to make year-round navigation a reality. Even an inroad of a week or a month in the present ice blockade would be of great benefit."

Under the Proxmire bill, a decade study would cost about $75,000 and take two years to complete.

Steel Rods Lodged In Stomach of Worker After Fall

MADISON (AP) — A construction worker has been saved from possible death by surgery who removed two steel shafts which had been imbedded in his stomach when he fell from a tarring wall on which he was working at the new coliseum of the Dane County Fair Grounds.

John Fuller, 40, of Oregon, fell 30 feet Tuesday and landed on the reinforcement rods.

Low. Fellow workers were able to cut him free with torches and some of the steel remained in his body.

An ambulance rushed Fuller to a Madison hospital where doctors worked for more than three hours to remove the rods of the two rods.

Fuller was reported in fair condition Wednesday night.

Farm Accident Kills Oconomowoc Man

OCONOMOWOC (AP) — Emil Zuehlke, 70, of Oconomowoc was killed Wednesday when run over by a milk truck on his son's farm two miles south of here.

Coroner James Welch said Zuehlke was helping out on the farm of his son, Marlin, when the accident occurred. The truck had picked up a load of milk at the farm and as the driver left his vehicle struck Zuehlke, Welch said.

Only Three-Vote Margin

Laborite Parliament Ends Session With Amazing Legislative Record

LONDON (AP) — Britain's national severance pay scheme, approved by the bill in principle Labor government came to the end of its first session of Parliament today with a record of legislation astonishing to even its most zealous supporters.

With Prime Minister Harold Wilson's forces plagued by the smallest majority in this century, the House of Commons put through 65 separate measures before adjournment until Oct. 26. Some of the legislation represents minor social and economic revolutions in taxation, race relations, capital punishment and other fields.

For drama and accomplishment, the session probably will go down in the history books.

Fifty-two of the successful bills were introduced by the government as part of its program, the rest by individual M.P.s. The total of 65 is two more than the number of bills passed by the last Parliament, when the Conservatives had a majority of about 100 votes.

The opposition accused Wilson of overloading Parliament's antiquated procedures with a program better suited to a voting cushion 10 times the size of his actual nominal majority of only three votes.

Wilson, anxious to make a record in office, shouldered the complaints aside.

The government's most difficult achievement — and the most wearing on the House — was the finance bill. This package of tax reforms was debated for 211 hours on 23 days. Most of the sittings lasting until long after midnight.

The Laborites lost only three times. This forced Wilson to accept a Conservative measure lowering capital gains taxes on mutual funds. Ironically, this had been suggested earlier by Labor's own economic advisers.

Other major platform pledges enacted were a new rent law, a boost in old-age pensions and a

Music Changes on Teen Front, Observes Jingo

Things Seem Looking Up Now That Both Singer, Listener Less Serious

BY JINGO

Things, it seems, are changing on the teen-age front—music wise! Or, at least, that's how it looks to Jingo after spending a "holiday" with the brand of teen-agers who haunt his home. Two factors seem to stand out. The reception and, perhaps, the delivery of the "enchanted" drive is being colored with amusement. This is very important. A few months ago the deadly seriousness with which the noise was being clothed was one of the most frightening aspects of the horrible mess. Now if the youngsters watching and the "youngsters" wriggling can, at least, smile at themselves all is not lost.

A more apparent factor in this change, Jingo believes, is the appearance of some cogent lyrics and more than a suspicion of style. Although he hasn't been able to retain the names of the performers as yet, Jingo can see some of the singers gaining popularity who actually can sing! This is most revolutionary and the skies seem to be clearing. Our faith in our kids is being justified.

If these things are truly trends and not merely figments of an optimistic imagination, "Shindig" and "Hullabaloo" may pick up enough adult audience to make them next season's "Bonanza."

Shifting the camera away from the paid entertainers to the audience we also have evidence that change is in process. The lonely exhibitionism which is being accepted as dancing may be on the way out. Jingo has received word that "Killer" Joe Piro, who claims to have invented the gyrations that once were the sole property of St. Vitus, has become the "dance editor" of a new magazine, "In," and as an appropriate enterprise for this promotion he has invented a new dance—appropriately called the "In."

If this catches on, we may again see young boys and girls on the dance floor in each other's arms. Of course, the process will be a long one since it has been years since cheek-to-cheeking was acceptable, but the "In" does allow the youngsters to touch.

Now, of course, we oldsters again can start worrying about closeness. Remember the chaperones who carried measuring sticks.

The Everly Brothers who packed The Knight recently appear to be satisfied with live entertainment. In their fine interview with The Post-Crescent's Alice Fulton, if you remember, they said they would have nothing to do with "starring" in a would be demanded of them would be to sing and look foolish.

They are bucking a trend, of course. Soon to be released is a "new" beach picture—the "Beach Ball." This Paramount flick will "star" The Supremes, The Righteous Brothers, The Four Seasons and The Hondells among others. There's no wonder that these beach things haven't time enough for any plot.

Puerto Rican Guard Trains in Georgia

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—About 700 officers and enlisted men of the Puerto Rican Air National Guard have arrived at nearby Travis Field for a two-week training session. It is the first time the guardsmen have been trained away from Puerto Rico.

Defenders Represent Bad Lawyer

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Defenders repeats an episode that doesn't flinch in giving another side—the bad one—of members of the bar. Martin Balsam plays a lawyer who is not as upstanding as E. G. Marshall. (R)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — George Gobel is very winning in Daniel Boone, as a clumsy, kindly school teacher who doesn't see anything wrong in giving gunpowder to Indians. But Fess Parker disagrees, especially since Boone's bow is his supply is nearly gone. (R)

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Donna Reed Show is hardly realistic, but it makes a good point about conscience and honesty. Jeff buys an old suitcase at a railroad auction, and finds over $500 in cash. He is told the money is legally his. (R)

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons pits William Demarest against a little Oriental girl, the daughter of one of Steve's business associates and the man's Korean wife. (R)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare examines whether a doctor has the right to tell a dying patient the facts and remove the last faint hope of survival in order to obtain a seemingly cold-blooded, cut-and-dried piece of death bed testimony, admissible in court. (R)

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — It turns out that old witches, whose spells are not what they used to be, make excellent baby sitters. A delightful Bewitched proves this as Marion Lorne turns to baby sitting and proves the best in town. (R)

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — Dr. Markham's twin brother turns up in Peyton Place (Leslie Nielsen plays both parts), while Norman searches for Joe Chernak. Allison loses a job, Rod and Cord build tension between them, and a new career begins to blossom for Elliot Carson.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — When "Streetcar, Do You Read Me?" on Kraft Suspense Theater is concerned with a fire in a B-47 or a hazardous mid-air refueling, it builds some good suspense. (Color) (R)

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Jimmy Dean Show welcomes June Valli, Adam Keefe, C. C. "Rich" Richlieu and Porter Wagoner for some country and western songs. It's fun for fans of the genre. (R)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Good It is not safe to allow children to fight and jump around in the car. You must expect them to sit quietly and talk or sing or look at the scenery in ways that will not endanger them or the driver. It is not easy for children to sit still for long periods of time, so plan to stop every once in a while and let the youngsters stretch their legs. Take along a thermos jug of cold beverage so that they do not get too thirsty. Then expect them to play quietly while the automobile is in motion.

Honeymoons aren't limited to marriage! True — False — True. When a new president of the United States first assumes office, he is given a certain period of time to adjust; people refrain from criticism and opposition. When a pastor takes over a new church, his parishioners are likely to come to church more often, and give him a chance to show what he can do before going back to their usual gripes and complaints. A man in a new job in business may at first get special attention, and his mistakes are overlooked for a time. Honeymoons are common in many relationships.

Should scientists disregard values? Yes — No — No, and for the same reason that a driver should not disregard others' cars on the road. Scientists are human beings. They have wishes, concerns, and values. They should know what they are and where they are. Shutting your eyes to realities is no way to avoid hitting

Jim Nabors Has Come Up In World

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The two-room suite tucked discreetly into the corner of a building on the Desilu-Cahuenga Studio lot once was occupied by Jack Benny. Later, Joey Bishop moved into the dressing room. This year Jim Nabors has it, which gives you an idea about how far and how fast a fellow can move up the television ladder.

Last year at about this time Jim and his costar, Frank Sutton, were a pair of very nervous young men. They had filmed 17 episodes of a new series built around the character Gomer Pyle, dreamed up originally on "The Andy Griffith Show." But neither had any idea how it would go, particularly since another new show was built around a similar idea.

In Third Place "Gomer Pyle — USMC" landed immediately in third place on the Nielsen top 10 shows, moved up another notch to second place, and stayed there all season.

The competition show, "No Time For Sergeants," succumbed to low ratings. Sutton tried to figure out why Gomer Pyle succeeded.

"First, the writing," Sutton said. "It concentrates on two characters — Gomer Pyle, who is Gomer, not just a foul-up rookie, and Sgt. Carter, who is Carter, not just a tough sergeant. Gomer stays in character — naive, completely honest — and Carter stays in his character. The stories came out of their attitudes."

Carter was created "out of whole cloth for the show, and we started to play him by ear," said Sutton, adding that the character changed radically over the season.

Marichal Wins 17th Against Reds, 4-3

Cincinnati Now Trails by 2 Games; Phillies Drub Cubs

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Bragan can't sell National League umpires on his spitball theory but he may have them swinging at his round-house curve.

The Milwaukee manager helped the men in blue decide that they hadn't seen what they thought they'd seen in the second inning of Wednesday night's doubleheader opener against league-leading Los Angeles.

Bragan's persuasive power paid off in a 4-3 victory for the Braves and Walt Alston didn't stop seething until his Dodgers had salvaged the nightcap 3-2 and protected their first-place foothold.

The Los Angeles pilot lodged a protest — later withdrawn — after Bragan and the umpires contributed to a zany play during Milwaukee's decisive three-run second-inning rally in the first game.

Trail by Two

Second-place Cincinnati dropped a 4-3, 10-inning verdict to San Francisco and fell two games behind the Dodgers while Pittsburgh blanked New York 3-0. St. Louis rocked Houston 9-4 and Philadelphia drubbed Chicago 7-2 in other NL games.

Jim Hart doubled in the 10th and scored on Hal Lanier's single, lifting the Giants past Cincinnati and enabling Juna Marichal to gain his 17th victory. Marichal gave up 12 hits, including a two-run double by Pete Rose and Gordy Coleman's run-scoring single in the third.

Andre Rodgers drove in two runs with a homer and squeeze bunt as the Pirates shut out the Mets for the second straight day. Bob Veale pitched eight innings, striking out 12 and allowing five hits, before giving way to Don Schwall in the ninth.

Ted Savage broke a 2-2 tie with a fourth-inning double and singled home another run in St. Louis' five-run eighth, powering the Cardinals and southpaw Curt Simmons past Houston.

The Phillies trimmed the Cubs behind Chris Short's eight hit pitching and the hitting of Dick Stuart, who drove in four runs with his 19th homer, a double and a sacrifice fly.

Frank-Pat's, Jitter's-Joe's Win Openers

Oshkosh Team Also Triumphs in Men's Softball Tourney

OSHKOSH — Teams from Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh won opening night games of the 1965 Men's Fox Valley District Softball Tournament at the southside lighted diamond here Wednesday night.

Frank and Pat's Pizza, Neenah, topped B and B Tap, Oshkosh, 6-2; Jitter's and Joe's, Menasha, edged The Rail Oshkosh, 5-3; and Piggly Wiggly, Oshkosh, belted Winchester, 9-0.

Frank and Pat's won behind the two-hit pitching of Lenny Adams and the first inning bases loaded home run of Tom Malchow. Don Althaus connected for a solo homer in the third inning for the winners. Don Rumlow was the losing pitcher for B and B Tap.

Jitter's and Joe's managed only two hits off The Rail's Jim Luedtke, but a combination of walks and errors proved enough for the win. Doug Wiatrowski got credit for the victory.

Scatters 4 Hits

George Singstock pitched Piggly Wiggly to its shutout win by scattering four hits while his teammates were belting loser C. Neimuth for 10 safeties. The big blow was a first inning grand slam homer by Fred Phillips.

Piggly Wiggly will next meet Oshkosh Merchants at 6:30 p.m. Friday, while Frank and Pat's Pizza and Jitter's and Joe's tangle with each other at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Three more games are on tap tonight. Bleier's Bar, Appleton, meets Oscar's, Fond du Lac, at 6:30 p.m.; Subway Bar, Appleton, tangles with 616 Club, Green Bay, at 7:45; and Club Oasis, Oshkosh, plays Lom's Bar, Green Bay, at 9.

White Bass Problem to Be Discussed

The fate of white bass in this area will be discussed Saturday in the Fremont Village Hall. The meeting starts at 1:30 p.m.

Slated to attend are members of the Regional Alliance of Conservation Clubs, Division of Wolf River Country, Inc.; the chambers of commerce of the eight counties bordering on the Wolf River and state senators and assemblymen.

The Wisconsin Conservation Department has proposed that white bass be classified as rough fish and seeks to seine white bass from the Winnebago pool, or parts thereof.

Murel A. Edinger, executive secretary of the Regional Alliance, says that if the CD is given this authority, it will greatly affect sports fishing and the economic base of the communities along the Wolf during the annual white bass run.

Saturday's meeting will give local clubs an opportunity to have a voice in the problem before the Aug. 12 CD hearing.

Braves Split Doubleheader

Woodward "Then they decided to have a conference and they discovered neither one called me out."

Protests Ruling

With Woodward given third and Fischer second on the throw into the dugout, Los Angeles manager Walt Alston joined the dialogue.

"What is there Bragan or anyone else can say that can make an umpire change a decision?" smoked Alston, who told the umpires he was playing the game under protest.

Alston dropped the dispute after the nightcap victory and another conversation with the umpires. He related, "Burkhart says he didn't call him out and Weyer said he didn't tag him out."

Alston added, "If they had explained it like that out there, I wouldn't have protested."

Woodward's footwork paid off when he raced home from third on Felipe Alou's grounder with what became the winning run.

Drysdale Goes Route

Drysdale, now 15-9, went the route while Bragan used four pitchers, with Fischer, 5-5, getting the win. The Dodgers had 18 baserunners in the opener, but nine were stranded, three were forced out and three were either picked off or thrown out stealing.

Dodger shortstop Maury Wills ran his stolen base booty to 74 with two thefts in the doubleheader, but was thrown out once and picked off twice.

Fairly's bat and loose fielding by Rico Carty combined to back up Osteen's clutch pitching in the second game before a paid crowd of 19,920, largest since opening day.

Fairly slashed a wrong field single to left in the second and Carty juggled the ball for an error to give the Dodger outfielder second base. Fairly advanced on a ground out and scored when Wes Parker's bouncer took an erratic hop and squeezed through third baseman Eddie Mathews' legs for an infield hit.

Misjudges Bloop

Fairly dropped a bloop double in front of Carty when the Dominican misjudged the ball in the fourth and scored again on Don LeJohn's single up the middle. Carty got one of the runs back with a homer over the right field railing in the same inning.

Aaron blasted a 3-0 pitch 410 feet deep into the left-center-field bleachers in the seventh to knot the game 2-2, but Junior Gilliam singled in the eighth and advanced to second on a sacrifice.

Bragan went to the mound to talk to starter Denny Lemaster.

Ex-Washington Coach Wins $175,000 Suit

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — John A. Grayson, former head basketball coach at the University of Washington, was awarded $175,000 Wednesday night by a King County Superior Court jury that deliberated nine hours.

Grayson, 49, had sought $300,000 in a label suit against the Curtis Publishing Co. for a Saturday Evening Post article which he contended ruined his career. The article, "Basketball Bullies," was published over the byline of Al Lightner of Salem, Ore., a former referee.

Two persons voted "no" when the jury was polled at the request of defense attorneys.

"This is a wonderful feeling," Grayson said after the verdict was read. "I hope to return to coaching now. That's my life's work."

In the article, Grayson was accused of inciting home crowds at a game in which Lightner was an official. Special emphasis was directed at Grayson's conduct during a Washington-UCLA game here March 2, 1962.

Lightner said he had been struck and received a cut following that contest.

Grayson, whose contract was allowed to lapse in April, 1963, some three months after the article appeared, denied ever inciting a crowd.

Jim Owens, Washington athletic director, denied the article had anything to do with Grayson's losing his job. He said the basketball coach had been offered another position in the department at a lesser salary but had declined.

Hart and Jeter Waging Close Duel for Job

Top defensive highlight was Willie Wood "tip" of pass, which fellow defender Hart quickly converted into interception. Picking off the ball head high, Doug returned it seven yards.

Evaluating the overall performance, Lombardi was pleased to observe, "there was some good hitting out there."

Indicating that it had gone about as he had expected, Packer headmaster pointed out, "if the offense had run over the defense, then we would be in trouble. They (the defense) have seen this stuff for six or seven years now, so if they couldn't stop it, it would be time to worry."

"I don't think we're nearly as polished as we might be," he concluded, "but that will come."

Squad Divided

The 54-man squad, not including College All-Stars Bill Curry Moore and Junior Coffey, has been officially divided for Saturday night's production, which will find the offense seeking its fourth victory, compared to two

'A' Invitational Regatta On Winnebago Has Long, Colorful History

BY JIM ANGER
Oshkosh Yacht Club

OSHKOSH — The north country is the birthplace of one of the largest and fastest classes of inland lake sailboats in the world—the Class "A" scow. Friday, Saturday and Sunday mark the 1965 "A" invitational regatta on Lake Winnebago off the shores of Oshkosh, sponsored by the Oshkosh Yacht Club.

From 10 to 12 visiting "A" boats will compete in a series of five races.

The class "A" boats in the Oshkosh Yacht Club, with their sail numbers, are the "John D" (J-46), owned by Clyde Buckstaff, and the "Lake Fly" (J-40), belonging to Don Stoll and James Pennau.

Neenah-Nodaway Yacht Club's class "A" boats are "Flying Cloud" (U-5) of John Kimberly Jr., "Winnefox II" (U-7) of William R. Kellett, "White Star" (U-9) of Eric Isakson and "Mad Zephyr" (U-12) of Charles and James Catlin.

Starting times for the five races are: Friday at 2 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and Sunday at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

To Big Lake

"A" boats are the grand old scows of inland lakes sailing whose forerunners date back to the late 1800s. Even in the 1870s, yachtsmen from nearby lakes surrounding Winnebago were bringing sailing craft to the big lake to compete in local races at Oshkosh, Neenah and Fond du Lac. Boats arrived at Winnebago via river, train flatcar and horse-drawn wagon. The big keel-hulled yachts were brought from Green Bay and Lake Michigan, from Green Lake and Mendota.

In time, as yacht clubs were formed on the southern Wisconsin lakes, Cedar, Oconomowoc, Pewaukee, Geneva and Delevan sent their craft to the Oshkosh regatta which annually marked the climax of Winnebago's sailing season. During the regatta, the city of Oshkosh took on a holiday atmosphere and a large portion of the population turned out to watch the races.

At the turn of the century, sailboat designers in this part of the country realized that lake racing demanded a different type of yacht from those favored by clubs on the Atlantic coast. They began to search for a smaller, lighter and less expensive craft from the yachts which were at that time racing on inland waters. They wanted a fast boat especially adapted for sailing on a lake. After several years of trial and error, a new design of boat evolved. This was a shovel-nosed, shallow-draft, sloop rigged boat with a saucer-like hull. One of the first such scows was Lake Winnebago's "Nirvana."

The year 1897 saw the formation of the Inland Lake Yachting Association. The organization was made up of sailing clubs in the northwest which sent boats to an annual regatta at Oshkosh, and in 1901, under ILYA ruling, the measurements of the larger scows became standard, forming the "A" class. Although many improvements in sail material and hull design have been made in the class since 1901, the "A" still remains at a standard length of 38 feet and carries 500 square feet of sail. A famed boatsman, the late J. C. Kimberly of the Neenah-Nodaway Yacht Club, wrote in 1957: "today's racing scow, with its sleek, low-flying hull and tall sails takes its place among the elite in the most beautiful sport in the world."

The "A" is certainly the most beautiful scow sailing on inland waters today, and perhaps the greatest factor attributing to her beauty and grace is the colorful parachute sail which helps carry the "A" along on a downwind leg of the race course. A name synonymous with "A" sailing is John D. Buckstaff. The late Buckstaff is the only sailor ever to gain a place in Wisconsin's hall of fame. Today, his son, Clyde, a well-known scow sailor in his own right, comments on the importance of the parachute in "A" sailing. "The late Buckstaff," the most dis-

Defending champions of the Felker are Harry and Bud Melges of Lake Geneva, who won it in 1964 with the "O'Dolly."

The newer, but equally famous Sawyer trophy, was first sailed for in 1906, when White Bear Yacht Club's Jack Ordway won the cup in his "Troubadour." Clyde and John Buckstaff, Oshkosh, sailing the "John D," are defending holders of the cup.

State to Seek Other Avenues Of Indian Aid

Conservation Agency Believes Menominee Land Issue Dead

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The future of the Menominee Indians of new Menominee County is here, as far as state government policy is concerned.

One of the most decisive actions of the legislature during the first part of its deliberations this year was the rejection out of hand of the state conservation department's plan to relieve the financial worries of the Indians, and to achieve a big new public recreational area, by state purchase of the big forest preserve owned by Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the vehicle for cooperative Indian ownership of the one-time Menominee Indian reservation.

A conservation department spokesman made it clear here today that the state purchase issue is dead, as far as the agency is concerned.

Rare Vote

Commenting on the rare unanimous vote by which the Wisconsin assembly recently rejected its purchase plan, he observed:

"Our principal interest was in giving the Menominees a chance to be heard on their problems and their desires."

The Menominees took the chance to be heard, with echoes that resounded through the state political system. Any chance that there would be political support for the purchase plan evaporated when there was virtually unanimous denunciation of the idea of removing the ancient tribal lands from community ownership and control.

Changed Mind

Gov. Knowles, who had originally indicated some sympathy for the idea of state purchase of the individual Indians' shares, changed his mind. He said that he would summon a state-wide conference to discuss other possible avenues of state assistance for the Indians, but he has not yet acted on that plan.

The special Menominee Indian study committee, a statutory unit created with the cancellation of tribal status of the Menominees five years ago, has deliberated often and long about the state's responsibilities to the people of the new county, but without new proposals lately. Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto is chairman of the board, and its recent sessions have indicated a hope that special federal aid legislation may be obtained from the current session of the U.S. Congress.

Vanderbilt's Life Too Much For Escapee

CHICAGO (AP)—A youth accused of posing as a Vanderbilt and living like one on credit cards was indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury which charged him with trafficking in stolen cars.

He is David Arthur Staudt, 22, who authorities said escaped from a Milwaukee jail and used the name of Cornelius David Vanderbilt IV in bilking several firms.

The indictment accused him of driving stolen cars from Miami to Highland Park, Ill., and from Chicago to Madison, Wis., and Indianapolis in February and March of this year.

Joined Key Club

Staudt was arrested March 24 at a suburban motel.

Police said Staudt had used the Vanderbilt alias to obtain a Chicago library card, other identification papers and a key to a Chicago club. They said he carried Vanderbilt family pictures he had clipped from a magazine.

Staudt fled Milwaukee, officers said, while serving jail time under a rehabilitation program that allows certain offenders to work by day and return to jail at night. The government said Staudt now is in jail in Milwaukee.

If convicted, he would face a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and a $15,000 fine.

Lena Girl Dies After Kidney Transplant

LENA, Wis. (AP) — Marilyn Guelig, 13, who received a kidney transplant June 16, died Tuesday night at University Hospitals in Minneapolis.

About $20,000 had been contributed to the girl and her mother, Mrs. Irene Guelig, Route 2, Lena, in a fund drive started by local officials.

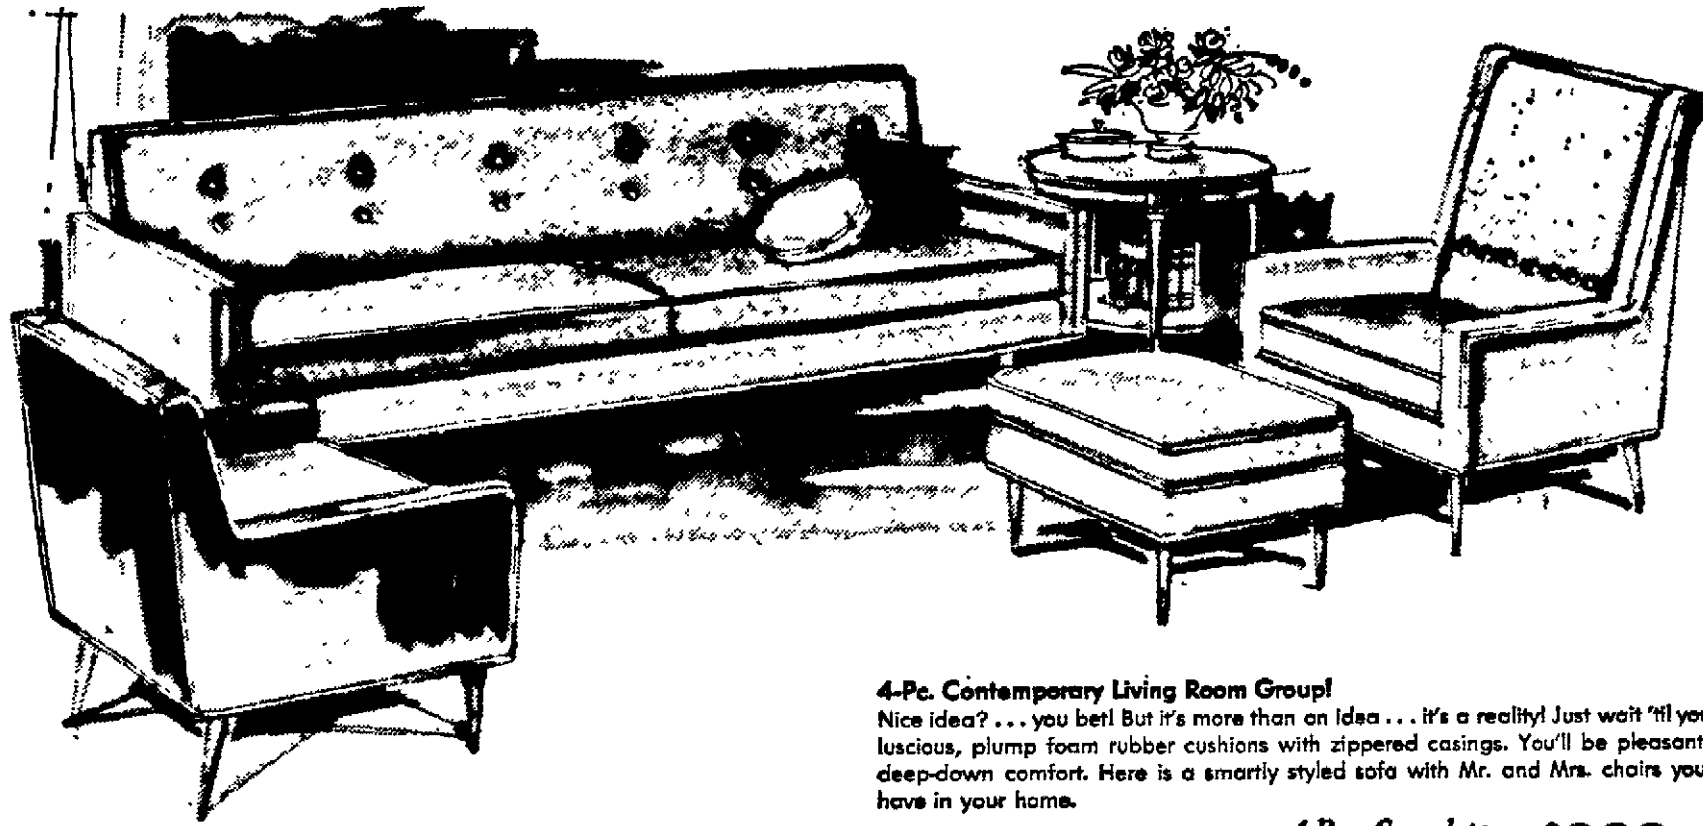

The girl's father, grandfather and aunt died in a traffic accident two years ago.

thank both Democratic and Republican leaders who led the Administration's voting rights legislation to a 79-18 victory. In the rear is Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who also voted for the bill. (AP Wirephoto)

Congratulates Congress

President Plans Ceremonial Signing for New Voting Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A voting rights bill which President Johnson says "brings within our immediate vision the day when every American can enter a polling booth without fear or hindrance" needs only his signature to make it law.

The President will choose the time and place to make the signing a ceremonial landmark in the achievement of civil rights for Negroes.

The Senate, suddenly speeding up its procedures, gave the final congressional approval to the bill Wednesday night, 79 to 18, and the President went to the Capitol to extend congratulations in person.

Formal Statement

Johnson, in a formal statement, thanked on behalf of the country the members of Congress of both parties who voted for the measure.

"Their action honors them as much as it perfects our country," he said, and later he added special commendations for the work on behalf of the measure by the two Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen. Johnson said "they will be long remembered for what they have done on this bill."

The bill will suspend the use of literacy tests, said to be used to discriminate against Negroes, in much of the South and permit the federal government under specified conditions to take over the registration of voters. It also calls for the attorney general to bring a court test on the constitutionality of

Johnson to Sign Bill at Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will go to the Capitol Friday to sign into law his Negro voting rights bill. White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced today that Johnson will sign the bill at noon, with his Cabinet on hand.

The signing will come on the 104th anniversary of a ceremony in which President Abraham Lincoln signed at the Capitol a bill giving freedom to slaves employed by Confederates in carrying out the Civil War.

Moyers said Friday's ceremony will be open to live coverage by radio and television.

poll taxes still used in state and local elections in Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Two civil rights leaders expressed less than all-out approval of the measure. But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, had called the bill "a good one because it goes a long way finally to redeem the pledge of the 15th Amendment by assuring the right to vote of all citizens regardless of race or color." He said, "I am confident that the poll tax provision of the bill — with vigorous action by the attorney general — will operate finally to bury this iniquitous device."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said the measure is too weak, does not meet the problem of intimidation and violence to would-be registrants and voters, and should contain an outright ban on the poll tax in state and local elections.

Third Person in Monday Crash Dies of Injuries

Seymour Driver's Wife, 70, Succumbs; Son's Condition Fair

Mrs. Frank Rudzinski, 70, 355 Ivory St., Seymour, died Wednesday evening as a result of injuries she received in a two-car collision Monday night on State 47 north of Black Creek.

Two others, including the woman's husband, and Marshall Zueleger, 30, route 1, Black Creek, also died of injuries in the crash.

Frank Rudzinski Jr., 46, of Seymour, a passenger with his mother in the car driven by his father, is in fair condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Raises Toll to 16

The death of Mrs. Rudzinski raises the Outagamie County highway fatality toll to 16, one more than on this date last year. According to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, the triple fatality was the first since October, 1963, when three volunteer firemen were killed in a fire truck-car collision near Kaukauna.

There have been two double fatal accidents this year.

Kemps said a pathological examination has shown that Zueleger did not suffer heart failure, but died as a result of injuries received in the crash. Zueleger died about two hours

Many Casualties Inflicted At Vietnamese Outpost Guarding Storage Facility

BY EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong attack on a big aviation fuel dump near the Da Nang Air Base will seriously affect U. S. air strikes, an American military spokesman said today. Military authorities said the hit-and-run guerrillas destroyed two of the nine storage tanks in the complex early today and heavily damaged two others with an estimated loss of one million gallons of fuel.

All fuel for jets and propeller-driven planes operating from the big Da Nang base comes in by ocean-going tanker and is transferred to the harbor-side storage complex operated by Esso Standard East. It is stored there until railroad cars transfer it to the base 10 miles to the southwest.

Large fuel dumps are located at the air base, however. The spokesman said it is believed they contain enough for immediate fuel needs.

Mortar Fire

An eyewitness said Viet Cong commandos opened their attack about 1 a.m., inflicting heavy casualties with mortar fire on a government outpost protecting the storage complex.

Overrunning the outpost, the guerrillas blasted through the main gates of the dump and set the tanks afire with plastic charges and phosphorous rocket shells.

There was no report of Viet Cong casualties.

The complex lies about two miles from positions held by several hundred U.S. Marines. The Leathernecks were not sent to aid the post, which lies outside their defense zone. But U.S. Marine artillery and gunfire from an American destroyer off Da Nang harbor were called on to shell suspected Viet Cong positions, military sources said.

Short Rounds

An informant said fire from one destroyer fell short and hit a Vietnamese force sent to help the beleaguered post. Vietnamese casualties from this were described as moderate.

It was the boldest attack in the Da Nang area since Communist squads hit the base itself a little more than a month ago and destroyed three planes.

U.S. warships shelled the hills surrounding the storage complex two nights ago after a report was received that the Viet Cong was readying an attack on the Esso facility.

Just before noon today a Viet Cong mine derailed a railway engine a mile and a half from the oil storage tanks. The engine apparently was going to pull a line of tankcars from the storage dump. No injuries were reported.

Premier Resigns After Losing Confidence Vote In Greece's Parliament

Constantine Asks Novas to Remain In Office During Political Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier George Athanasiadis Novas resigned today after his defeat in a stormy parliamentary vote of confidence. In an unexpected move, King Constantine asked him to remain in office pending a solution of Greece's political crisis.

Most observers had thought the king would accept the resignation immediately and name a new premier. His request to Athanasiadis Novas to remain in office temporarily indicated the king was undecided on his next step.

Before his overthrow in Parliament early today, Athanasiadis Novas suggested that Constantine call the leaders of all political parties together to discuss the crisis.

The outgoing premier said today the king had decided not to call a council of the party leaders but to consult with them individually.

Stephanos Stephanopoulos, deputy premier under George

Papandreou, 77, was considered a strong possibility to be asked to form a government. The king fired Papandreou three weeks ago in a dispute over who should control the armed forces.

Also talked about as possible nonpolitical choices were George Mavros, a member of Parliament from Papandreou's center Union party and the head of the Bank of Greece, and Xenophon Zolotas, deputy governor of the National Bank.

Fears of Instability

There were fears that if a lasting solution is not found, Greece would revert to the political instability of 1950-52. There were nine changes of government during the two years.

The Athanasiadis Novas government was voted down 167-131 in a stormy eight-hour session of Parliament that lasted long after midnight. Deputies traded punches, catcalls and threats and the proceedings were suspended briefly. Speaker Emmanuel Baklatzis banged his gavel, rang his bell and shouted himself hoarse until the brawl eased.

Outside the parliament building, 1,000 Papandreou supporters chanted their hero's name and tried unsuccessfully to break through police lines when word of the voting outcome reached them.

Papandreou had vowed to bring down his successor and return to power. But this seemed unlikely unless a general election were called.

By tradition, the king now should call on Papandreou, as head of the largest party, to form a new government. But political observers saw little chance of a reconciliation between the two.

Dirksen to Try Again With Amendment to Reapportionment Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says he will try again for Senate approval of his constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment, despite Wednesday's defeat.

The margin of defeat — seven votes short of the requisite two-thirds majority — was greater than had been expected. But when the Senate Republican leader was asked whether he was giving up, he replied, "A loud no."

Speculator Demand

Dollar Price of Gold In England Pushed Up

LONDON (AP) — The dollar price of gold jumped 1.875 cents an ounce on the bullion exchange today to $35.19125 — the highest since November 1961.

Dealers said there was a very good demand from speculators who appeared to be gambling once again that the pound sterling will be devaluated.

Much of the demand came from European financial centers.

Official Price

The official price of gold is $35 an ounce.

The pound again came under pressure on the monetary exchange. At the opening the price for immediate delivery slumped one-eighth of a cent from Wednesday night's closing $2.79-32 to $2.79 1-32.

A few buying orders came in then and shortly before noon the price rose 1-32 of a cent.

Dealers said the forward market in pounds — pounds being bought for future delivery — was particularly depressed with an almost complete lack of buyers. Finally the Bank of England stepped in on the buying side and the forward market improved slightly.

Economic Squeeze

Financial commentators forecast further tightening of the government's economic squeeze to protect the pound.

Some had expected a stiff increase in the Bank of England rate, which controls the sterling areas interest rate on credit transactions. It has stood at 6 per cent since June 3, and the London Times said there were suggestions it would rocket to as high as 9 per cent.

But the Bank of England, in its regular Thursday announcement, held the rate at 6 per cent.

Named Presidential Adviser

Taylor Turns in Last Viet Nam Accounting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Combining hope for the future with acknowledgement of "serious problems" in Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor turns in his final ambassadorial accounting today to a top ranking panel at the White House.

On Capitol Hill the administration moved to the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee with its plea for $1.7 billion more plus a 340,000-man military manpower boost to gird for the Southeast Asian war.

President Johnson got a two-hour briefing from Taylor late Wednesday. Johnson said he was so impressed by the retiring ambassador's knowledge from his year in Saigon that he called a whole array of administration policymakers to today's 4.45 p.m. EST session.

Senior Adviser

The President also announced he has asked Taylor to be a senior adviser to the President on military and diplomatic matters and has named him to the intelligence board which supervises U.S. intelligence activities. Taylor, 63, onetime Army chief, was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff when Johnson sent him to South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S.

McNamara, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, Henry Cabot Lodge, Taylor's successor in the Saigon post, and other senior diplomatic, military and intelligence officers were called in for Taylor's report.

"The future," Taylor told newsmen after seeing Johnson, "is certainly far more hopeful than it was a year ago."

He said he left South Viet Nam last week "feeling far from discouraged, although I recognize the serious problems we have — problems that are military, civilian and international in character."

David Sarnoff, Dynamic Dream-Doer

Two-Hour Work-Days Foreseen by Industrial Prophet

By MAGGIE SAVOY
NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. David Sarnoff sat in his gadget-operated office and stared into the 21st century.

He saw: Homes run by finger touch, with 20 years of light, heat, cooling power buried in a suitcase-sized battery in the basement.

Planes winging 5,000 miles an hour overhead; freight shot across the continent by missile.

Food enough for all will be harvested from the sea and outer space. Someone will punch a button and it will rain: the great 74, chairman of the board of the deserts of the world will be in bloom; hurricanes will be turned around and headed back to sea.

day; living past the biblical three score 10 toward the five-score mark, in happier health with electronic replacements for wornout hearts, lungs or kidneys; doctors programming their patients' symptoms into computers and collecting within seconds the latest medical knowledge from all over the

2,000 A.D.
"All these things are possible by 2,000 A.D. from the development of scientific discoveries already made," says Sarnoff, 74, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America. "What-bloom: the mind of man visualizes, the genius of modern science can turn into fact."

"What a world this will be, if work

Neither an inventor nor a scientist, Sarnoff is a catalyst, a man who has made many prophesies, then forged and managed the business and research which made them come true.

In 1915, when the wireless was still a "contraption," he foresaw music boxes in every home. In 1921, shortly after RCA was formed and he became its commercial manager, he talked his bosses into risking $2,000 to develop a "music box."

Today 228 million radios are in use in homes, automobiles, coat pockets, under the sea and in space.

In 1923 he said, "Television will come to pass in due time." Sixteen years and $20 million later, he — then president of the

RCA — unveiled the first television at the World's Fair in New York.

Today 67 million television sets are in use. Today he watches yet another prophecy come true. Color television has caught on, after $130 million in research and a 10-year wait before color's account could be written in uncolored ink.

By the end of the year, five million color sets will be in use. Demand is outracing industry's ability to produce color picture tubes.

This obviously pleases the courtly, stocky Sarnoff. But Sarnoff also worries about the future.

Solo Parents Announce August Agenda

Solo Parents Club has announced its program for the month of August. First on the agenda is a Saturday trip to Sheboygan for the Bratwurst Festival. Mrs. John Pawelkiewicz has charge of transportation arrangements.

A splash party at High Cliff Park for Solo Parents children 12 or older, is scheduled Tuesday.

On Aug. 21 there will be a Birthday Party for Solo Parents children through 11 years. The party will be at the home of Mrs. Pawelkiewicz, 508 4th St., Menasha. At the Tuesday evening meeting members heard Mrs. Erwin Green from Manpower, Inc. speak on "Temporary Work Opportunity."

Golden Agers Plan Picnic

KAUKAUNA — The Golden Age Club will hold its annual summer picnic at 2 p.m. Monday at LaFollet Park. Members have been asked to bring a dish to pass and sandwiches. In event of rain the event will be held in the basement of the municipal building.

Mrs. Lydia Wenzel, Mrs. Joseph Promer and Fred Berg will provide music for singing and dancing. The "Four Cousins" will also entertain.

The serving committee is composed of Theodore Weber, John Schmidt, Peter Kempen, Mrs. Marie Quaintance, Mrs. Joseph Scherer, Mrs. Wenzel, Miss Mildred Casey, Mrs. Hugo Deno and Mrs. Emil Fralling.

Plans will be completed for attendance at a baseball game and movie Thursday at Milwaukee.

Facts, Fables of Hay Fever

Sneezes and sniffles aren't quell the pollen ejections that nuisance of winter months alone. send the invisible irritating parasites through the air. Ragweed, victims of hay fever pollen is so light it can travel over 100 miles in a good wind. Nearly every hay fever sufferer has tried treatments to relieve discomforts that plague him. And practically every treatment has been suggested at one time or another.

Hay fever has a long and somewhat amusing history. In 1819 a London physician with typical hay fever discomforts noted how others began to snifle and sneeze in June, at the start of the haying season. Just as he did. He also noted they continued to do so until after the hay had been stacked. His studies all pointed at the hay fields as sources of the common misery. Hay fever was thus named, although the symptoms actually had nothing to do with hay.

The Unwanted Weed
Not until 1831 was pollen suspected as the real culprit. Another 40 years passed before a professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School pinpointed the cause as ragweed.

Ragweed, a name hay fever sufferers abhor, has survived over 170 million years! The plant can grow in poorest soil and in almost all climates. There is little that can be done to Others maintained that if the victim of hay fever smoked strong tobacco until he became violently ill, he could clear breathing passages.

Other Remedies
Among other popular remedies of past days are arsenic, chloroform, quinine and tartar emetic.

Until well into the 20th century it was thought that hay fever never affected the poor but was a disease of the wealthy and fashionable. Of course, there aren't seven and one-half million rich Americans!

The history of hay fever is pathetically interesting. It is not an allergy to be ignored or passed over lightly. Hay fever sufferers may fall victim to serious and dangerous hearing and respiratory problems without proper medical attention. Don't rely on just an air-conditioner!

Check-Out Tomato Complains Fruit Manager Is Too Fresh

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 and working as a check-out girl in a neighborhood supermarket. I enjoy the work but I am having a problem. The manager of fruits and vegetables

has a fresh mouth. This old goat has children who are older than I am and he makes me so mad I want to paste him in the teeth.

He always has something personal to say. All week long he's been following me around whispering. "I had a wonderful dream about you last night. Would you like to hear about it?" I walk away from him but he tags along and keeps talking.

I wish I had a real sharp answer to put him in his place. Please, Ann, help me. — Inexperienced

Dear In: The next time the old geezer asks if you want to hear about his dream say, "No — but I'll bet my father would like to hear about it. Shall I ask him to call you?" If this doesn't wilt his lettuce speak to the store manager.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You usually come right out and let the meddlers, scoundrels pests, nags and cheapskates have it right between the eyes. But there's one group you haven't hit very hard and I'd like to do it for you. I'm talking about grown kids who don't want their fathers to remarry — for selfish reasons.

I never saw it to fail. If Dad has no money the kids are always pushing the old man to marry some nice woman who will take care of him in his old age so they won't get stuck. If Dad has money they don't want him to get married because it cuts down their share. I've seen this happen many times among my older friends and it's a shame. My brother listened to his selfish kids. They got him to ask the woman he was going with to settle for $10,000 if he should die first. The woman told him to forget he ever knew her.

Funny thing, Ann, she died two years later and left a big estate. Please print this. It could open a few eyes. — Old Salty

Clintonville Urged to Take Legal Steps Against Airline

Declares Interest In University Site

Kaukauna Solons Go on Record Favoring School In or Near City

KAUKAUNA — Members of the common council went on record Tuesday night favoring location of a 4-year University of Wisconsin in this area and indicated sewer and water facilities would be extended by the city should the site be within reasonable distance of the city and the property annexed to the city.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon questioned whether the council was entering into a bidding contest with surrounding cities to have the school located in the city, but aldermen assured him the offer was merely to let interested parties know that the city sewer and water laterals could be extended into annexed areas. The council felt additional action by a school site committee and interested citizens within the next few days would provide additional information about location of a 4-year University in the area.

Union Requests
A letter from a representative of the City Employees Local, referred to the board of public works, asked the council to consider negotiation proposals. These include a 10 cents across the board hourly increase in wages, moving workers up from class B to class C on the pay schedule, an additional 5 cents per hour wage for garbage and rubbish collectors, moving workers in class C into the next higher pay scale, four weeks vacation with pay after 20 years service, and the city assuming cost of uniforms for mechanics, garbage and rubbish workers.

Wages of two assistant park workers were increased from $300 to $340 per month, effective Aug. 1, as the two completed a 60-day probationary period. Approval was given to erecting a fence at Hennes playground for $636 and the park superintendent was authorized to attend a two-day tree institute at Milwaukee Thursday and Friday.

Inadequate Service Charge Levelled at North Central

CLINTONVILLE — Legal action should be started by Clintonville because of inadequate service by North Central Airlines, two attorneys representing the city in airline matters recommended Tuesday.

The city council was advised that action should be initiated by Clintonville before the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and either the State Public Service Commission or the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission.

Atty. Robert W. Otto, who represents the city in airport matters, wrote that he had responded with Atty. Howard Boros, Washington, D.C., who is working with him in the Air Service matter, and that they had agreed that action should be taken.

"Complaints Every Week" "Every week I receive complaints from Clintonville airline travelers about the inadequacy of service," Otto wrote. "There is no doubt that the present inadequacy of service is very seriously hampering our generation of passengers," he said.

The letter was referred to the airport commission. Otto reminded the council that a reply must be presented to the city's briefs, filed earlier, within a month after Aug. 20.

In other action, the council approved purchase of five acres on Seventh Street for $2,500 from the Four Wheel Drive Foundation for future use as a trailer court.

Water Level Down
Ald. Fred Hangerman, chairman of the river improvement committee, reported that while the water level of the Pigeon River is down now, the committee is checking ways to control the dam with the gates.

The Pigeon River Watershed Commission has purchased a weed cutting machine, and the committee reported it appeared that lowering the water level also has helped the weed situation.

The river improvement committee was authorized to contact the Public Service Commission about permission to open and close the dam gates.

Mayor Frank Sinkewicz displayed the proposed inside cover of the comprehensive planning project booklet with the listing of names and other information that will appear on all reports which are in conjunction with the project. He said information on the planning will be coming within a few weeks.

Opposes Measure
Ald. Lloyd Zaddock, chairman of the welfare committee, stated he was opposed to a bill introduced in the Legislature which would change welfare from the unit to county system. Zaddock questioned how the operation could be run efficiently on a county basis.

The council authorized the transfer of a Class B liquor license to Mrs. John Cunnea from her deceased husband. This is for the Towne Lounge, Hotel Marson.

2 Persons Get Probation on Morals Count

Couple Out on Bond Pending Decision by Waupaca Judge

WAUPACA — Four persons charged with lewd and lascivious conduct appeared Wednesday, in Waupaca County Court. Two were placed on probation for two years and one couple continues to remain free on bond, pending the filing of briefs by their attorney.

Ralph Yucenger, 37, Bonduel, and Mrs. Veronica Carlson, 727 S. Main St., Shawano, a former Clintonville resident, are free on $1,000 bond each. They were arrested April 8 by Waupaca County sheriff's department officials and charged with the morals count and with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Both appeared in Clintonville Municipal Court the day of their arrest and were bound over to County Court for trial. When the couple was arraigned in Waupaca County Court, both entered innocent pleas.

Hear Testimony

After hearing testimony from several witnesses Wednesday, Judge Wendell McHenry granted defense attorney Ralph M. Lauer, Clintonville, until Aug. 16, to file a brief. Judge McHenry said he would render a decision after receiving briefs from Lauer and Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson.

Earl E. Gunderson, 39, 318 N. U.S. 45-State 54 intersection at Water St., New London, had admitted charges of lewd and lascivious conduct and contributing to the delinquency of a minor when he was arraigned June 8 in Waupaca County Court. At that time a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge McHenry and Gunderson was allowed to enter the Veterans Hospital at Wood for medical treatment. He was arrested June 2 in New London.

Wednesday, Gunderson was returned to court and sentenced to six months in the county jail on each of the charges. The sentences were stayed and he was placed on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for two years. He was also ordered to pay the costs of the court action against him and also contribute to the support of his wife and eight children.

Pleads Guilty

Mrs. Irma Nelson, 19, 318 1/2 Mill St., Waupaca, pleaded guilty of lewd and lascivious conduct and was also placed on probation for two years to the State Department of Public Welfare after a six-month sentence in the county jail was stayed by Judge McHenry. Mrs. Nelson was arrested by Waupaca County sheriff's department officials and Waupaca city police at her home July 29.

James Gurholt, 20, 816 Royalton St., Waupaca, who was in the company of Mrs. Nelson at the time of her arrest, has been arraigned in Municipal Justice Court and was bound over to County Court for trial. Gurholt, who appeared in Municipal Justice Court July 30, is free on $1,500 bond. Since her arrest, Mrs. Nelson, unable to furnish a bond, was held in the Winnebago County jail.

Escapee Captured in Wild Chase by Chilton Policeman

Reformatory Flight Ends as Car Overturns

CHILTON — An escapee from the Green Bay Reformatory in DePere was captured Wednesday night after the car he was driving rolled over off Calumet County Trunk G during a high-speed chase by a Chilton policeman.

Police Chief Daniel Albedyll said Michael Gumm, 19, Milwaukee, was treated for injuries to his elbow and returned to the reformatory about 3 a.m. today.

Albedyll said the car which Gumm was driving had been reported stolen from Green Bay earlier in the evening and was being pursued by relief patrolman Henry Kiesner when the accident occurred.

Kiesner had seen the car enter Chilton on State 57 shortly after 11 p.m. and followed it through town. When he turned on his red light to pull the car to the curb for further investigation, the driver speeded up and tried to outrun the patrol car.

Albedyll said the two cars raced at high speeds along 57 to G about one mile from the Chilton city limits where the accident occurred. Gumm was taken to the Chilton hospital for treatment then released in Albedyll's custody.

Car Demolished

Authorities said Gumm was serving a one-year term in the reformatory for probation violation. He walked away from a work gang outside the reformatory Wednesday afternoon.

He is alleged to have taken a 1956 car owned by Steven Raeder, Green Bay, in making his escape. The car was demolished in the accident, police said.

Bid for Institution Gets More Support

Waupaca A of C Joins Efforts to Locate Boys' Institution in Area

WAUPACA — An attempt by the Waupaca Industrial Development Corp. (WIDC) to have a new state school for delinquent boys constructed in the Waupaca area was endorsed Wednesday by the Waupaca Association of Commerce (A of C) Board of Directors.

The effort of the WIDC also received the support of the Waupaca City Council which passed a resolution Tuesday asking that Waupaca be considered for the new school.

Criteria Set

The criteria for the new school for 300 delinquent boys was the main business at the morning meeting of the board directors. Association President Clifford Johnson and Secretary - Treasurer G. H. Stordock, who attended the Monday night meeting of the WIDC when the intentions of the industrial group were made public, explained the project to the directors.

Several possible sites were recommended and discussed.

Clintonville Falls 42 Pints Short Of Blood Quota

CLINTONVILLE — Sixty-five pints of blood were collected from donors Tuesday afternoon when the Red Cross bloodmobile was at the Veterans Memorial building.

Seven of the 72 who appeared to contribute their blood were rejected. The quota set for the visit was 107 pints.

Outagamie 'K-9 Corps' Plan

Police Howl at Proposal to Train Dogs to Ride Shotgun in Squad Cars

Man's best friend was royally roasted by members of the Outagamie County Traffic Department who weren't especially pleased at having canine companions riding shotgun.

To say the least, members weren't "tail wagging happy" about a proposal by Supv. John Schreiter to include training of police dogs to ride as second man in county patrol cars.

Schreiter hit on the proposal during a meeting with the county's executive committee Tuesday. Schreiter is chairman of the county's sheriff and traffic committee.

Report With Leash

One traffic member, early Wednesday morning, posted a large sign in the traffic department squad room, "Outagamie County K-9 Corps," and another showed up for duty this morning with hat, gun, badge and a leash.

One patrolman, Edward Metko, off duty today, came to the office with his large German shepherd and small Pekinese dog. He said he wanted to recruit the pair for the corps, but was having a hard time finding application blanks.

Sheriff Calvin Spice, whose official car designation is No. 9, said he was being referred to as "K-9" in radio messages "barked" at him while on patrol by his radio operators.

Traffic men commented, on a more serious note, that the training of dogs, pioneered by some large eastern cities, would be out of the question for rural patrols.

Trained as Team
"Each man would have to have his own dog, and the man and dog would have to be trained as a team," one commented.

Another said that recruitment of dog has been a problem that large police departments and the armed services have been facing for some time.

Dogs Have Their Place

Sheriff Spice said he had no "official" comment to make on the proposal, but said that dogs have their place in police work "on patrols in large cities."

Washington, D.C. has effectively trained police dogs to patrol in dark areas which would be a possible danger to one man. The dog is trained to respond to the nearby patrolman's directions.

Most patrolmen said that an eight-hour shift with a dog seated in the squad car's front seat "would make more problems than we would want."

Although they did not elaborate, the inference that dogs sometimes cannot be man's best friend, was made clear.

Lutheran Group Buys Recorder For Missionary

FREMONT — A tape recorder was purchased by the Young Peoples Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church as a gift to the Rev. Thomas Going who is a missionary in Japan. Rev. Thomas Going was a member of the Fremont congregation when his father, the Rev. Louis I. Going, was pastor at the local church.

A car wash will be held Saturday at the Wolf River Oil Co. as a society fund raising benefit. Kerry Lewin, Susanne Kriesler and April Brogaard are in charge.

New London Stores Sludge

Plant Official Says Experiment Isn't Meeting Expectations

NEW LONDON — An experiment in stockpiling treated sludge in a drying bed in the city dump is being carried on by the sewage treatment plant.

However, Al Schafer, sewage plant superintendent reports the experiment is not turning out as well as hoped. He reports the soil on which the sludge is being stored is not conducive to good drying.

The sludge is made available to city residents for use in their gardens or flower beds. Otherwise the sludge is applied to the city park grass areas or used on farm fields.

The plant moved 22,510 gallons of sludge to the drying bed during July. A total of 112,150 cubic feet of sewage gas was used during the month.

An average of 601,306 gallons of raw sewage was treated per day with the total reaching 18,640,500 gallons for the month. The high point came July 5 when 765,200 gallons were treated and the low July 11 when 526,300 gallons were treated.

Spanish Student Will Attend Marion High

MARION — Eusibo Murillo, 17-year-old exchange student from Granada, Spain, will make his home with Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Bigler and family here during the 1965-66 school term while attending classes at the high school.

Murillo will arrive in New York City Aug. 12 and Milwaukee Aug. 13 or 14. The Biglers will meet him there.

In a letter to his American family, Murillo said he was not worried about the cold, although he now lives in the warmest part of Spain.

Plans Made to Replace Sewer In Weyauwega

City, Town Discuss Prevention of Spring Flooding Problem

WEYAUWEGA — Plans to replace the storm sewer located on the city's west side, bordering the Town of Weyauwega, were completed at the city council meeting Monday.

The plan would provide a 20- or 24-inch storm sewer to handle surface waters which flood the western area of the city and Town of Weyauwega during storms and spring thaws.

Harvey Jonely and Eldor Behn represented the Town of Weyauwega.

Alderman Schmidt, chairman of the police committee, reported that Power Geer, city policeman, has been allowed to work part time while living outside the city until Jan. 1, 1966. The council plans to advertise for a full-time police officer.

A hearing will be held Sept. 7 regarding the installation of a sewer and water service to residents located on S. Mary Street in the Town of Weyauwega.

City police who investigated the accident said Martin was driving south. When he attempted to pass a vehicle his car struck a pile of rocks and overturned.

10 Building Permits Issued in Waupaca During Past Month

WAUPACA — No home or commercial building permits were among 10 issued by Otto Kiel, city building inspector, during July.

Nine of the permits were for remodeling or additions and the 10th was a razing permit issued to Carl Severson, route 3, for the removal of a home at Badger and Washington streets.

Building costs of the nine construction permits issued totaled $13,400. Among the permits were two for commercial projects.

One was to Carroll's Billiard Hall, 118 S. Main St., where a new front and floor are being installed for an estimated cost of $4,000. The other was for repairing a rear wall at Quality Market, Main Street for an estimated $600.

The residential projects for which permits were issued included one to Bert Harris, 930 Ninth St., for the repairing and remodeling of a house that was damaged by fire. Estimated cost is $1,800.

O. S. Gunderson, 115 N. Franklin St., was given a permit for a $400 porch enclosure project. Mrs. William Ross, 702 S. Washington St., received a permit to remove a porch and construct a new room for a cost of $1,800, and Albert Holly was granted a permit to add a dormer to a house at a cost of $250.

Other permits went to Edmund S. Bailey, 411 Jefferson St., to replace siding, build a carport and rebuild a porch at a cost of $2,000; Mrs. Bonnie Bishop, 502 S. Division St., to build a new porch and canopy, $800; and Hartwell Buelow, 102 1/2 Water St., construct an enclosed porch, $800.

Kimberly Girl, 6, Dies in Fall At Glacier Park

Tragic Accident Ends Vacation Trip For VanMun Family

A vacation trip ended in tragedy for a Kimberly family Wednesday when Laurie Jean VanMun, 6, 220 S. Walnut St., fell 90 feet to her death from the top of Trick Falls in Glacier National Park, East Glacier, Mont., landed on rocks and tumbled into a pool.

Laurie Jean, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. VanMun, was climbing with her father, two brothers and a friend at the falls on the Two Medicine River at the southeastern edge of the park, when she stumbled on the trail and fell.

The girl was pulled from the pool by an unidentified man and woman. Two park rangers administered oxygen. A doctor said he believed the girl died before she hit the water.

The family had left Friday on a two-week vacation and were on the way to visit Mrs. VanMun's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Droogs, in Idaho.

The girl is survived by her parents, three brothers, and maternal and paternal grandparents. The latter are Mr. and Mrs. John VanMun, 237 N. John St., Kimberly.

Stevens Point Youth Forfeits $25 After Leaping From Bike

WAUPACA — George Krubsack, 19, Stevens Point, forfeited a bond of $25 Wednesday to Municipal Justice George Whalen when he failed to appear in Court to answer a charge of alighting from a moving vehicle.

Krubsack was hospitalized at Waupaca suffering from bruises and abrasions he received when he jumped from a motor bike July 31 near the intersection of Waupaca County Trunk Q and Camp Cleghorn Road in the Town of Farmington.

Seconds after Krubsack jumped from the rear of the motor bike the driver lost control and tipped over. The driver also was hospitalized with bruises and abrasions.

Appleton Man Found Guilty of Battery Count

WAUPACA — Alvin B. Thies, 21, 1209 N. Clark St., Appleton, was found guilty of battery Tuesday in Municipal Justice Court by Justice George Whalen.

After the ruling, Whalen set the fine at $100 and costs but stayed the sentence for five days pending an appeal to Circuit Court.

A second charge of disorderly conduct filed against Thies was dismissed on the recommendation of the district attorney. Thies was arrested by county police after he was involved in a fight at the Casino July 12. When he was arraigned July 13 in Municipal Justice Court, Thies pleaded innocent to both charges.

Harlow Woodliff, 21 Waupaca, an employee at the Casino, was hospitalized with a cut eye for several days after the fight. It occurred after Woodliff told Thies to pick up a beer bottle he had knocked to the floor near the barroom of the Casino. Since his July 12 arrest, Thies has been free on a $283 bond.

Playing Politics Indeed

Some Democrats, most notably Senator Wayne Morse, who have disagreed with the Administration's policies in Viet Nam, have come out in direct opposition and criticism. But the majority have hesitated to object, in part for national and in part for party reasons. One subterfuge has been to attack Republican support of the policy.

Congressman Henry Reuss used this maneuver in a speech to University of Wisconsin Young Democrats. The proposals for increased bombing of North Vietnamese bases, suggested by Republican Congressman Gerald Ford and Melvin Laird, were "reckless," said Reuss. They "might set off the flash that could start World War III. . . . Escalation of our bombing of North Viet Nam risks involving the entire North Viet Nam army against our forces."

Some weeks ago both Congressmen Ford and Laird advocated more bombing of the north. This even included a suggestion by Ford that missile sites be bombed, something which certainly risked involving the Russians. But this is exactly what the United States did, hitting two missile sites in North Viet Nam. It has been reported since that the North Vietnamese have not permitted Russian technicians at the mis-site sites so this knowledge may have influenced the decision.

The bombing raids most definitely have been stepped up in recent weeks. In a 24-hour period over the weekend, the Americans flew 230 sorties against Communist held areas including the bombing of bridges only 30 miles from Red China. Gradually but obviously the bombing pattern has changed from what were only token raids to demonstrate our strength to efforts to smash bridges, roads, ammunition and missile sites and troops themselves.

Congressman Reuss apparently is one Democrat who disagrees with this policy. But rather than criticize the leadership of his own party, he somehow twists the facts about and tries to blame the policy directed by President Johnson upon the Republicans.

The Ripon society, a liberal Republican group, has charged that Congressmen Laird and Ford are playing politics with the Viet Nam war by opposing the increase in ground forces while advocating more bombing. But Democrats like Congressman Reuss are certainly doing the same thing in reverse. They want to be on record as decrying "escalation" without criticizing their own leadership which just happens to be doing the escalating.

Compensation for Victims of Crimes

There has been much discussion in recent years about protecting the right to a fair trial of persons accused of criminal acts. But some leaders in this country and abroad are turning their attention to another aspect of the matter. What about the rights of the victims of crimes?

Sen. Yarborough, the Democrat from Texas, put it this way:

"Many persons stand ready to assist the offender in protecting his constitutional rights through all the courts of the land. While society is weeping over the criminal it is showing no such concern, indeed no concern, for the victim of his crime. Society is brutal toward the victims of crimes, not against criminals."

The Senator has introduced a bill in Congress to create a national violent crimes compensation commission. Federal funds would be appropriated so the commission could make awards to crime victims to compensate them for medical expenses and loss of wages. And while the Yarborough bill would apply only to the District of Columbia and other federal territory, it would well become a model for state laws.

The State of California already is trying the idea. It has appropriated $100,000 for a year's trial. Two foreign nations, Britain and New Zealand, are experimenting with similar plans.

In these plans property damage is not compensated for, nor are automobile injuries. The systems are geared to the impact of major disaster on earning power and the expense of medical care.

Under the Yarborough bill the compensation commission would be empowered to sue the criminal to recover all or part of the compensation awarded.

One legal problem already has been injected into the debate. Compensation awards must be made speedily to be of value. But in a protracted criminal case how can they be made without prejudicing the trial of the defendant?

Once again we are trying to balance the rights of the defendant against the rights of society, in this case represented by the injured individual. There are many legal experts who believe the pendulum recently has swung too far in protecting the rights of the accused. Compensation to the victim of crimes would be an important balancing factor.

Tobacco, Tomatoes and Potatoes

When the Spaniards landed in Mexico in 1519 they found the natives were cultivating tobacco with care and skill and consuming it through pipes and crude cigars or snuffing it as a powder which soon grew into snuff. They were already mixing it with other substances, such as amber, to add to the aroma.

The natives looked on tobacco as almost a cure-all. They said it had great powers in treating such ailments as bronchitis, asthma and rheumatism.

Then there's the tomato. Just about everybody in the United States knew that those things were poison, almost to the start of the Twentieth century. It was all right to grow them in your colonial garden for the beautiful yellow and red decorative effects, but you'd better keep the kids away from them. Nobody was sure just where they came from, but Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador were blamed—not that it made any difference, for Mexico was cultivating them before Columbus came.

To be sure, the Italians first met the tomato, the yellow variety, in 1554 and some early advertising genius named it pomo d'oro, or apple of gold and that's what it is to this day—pomodoro. Nobody could tell the Italians about poisonous tomatoes after that, and pretty soon the plants began to appear mainly as a curiosity, in gardens throughout Europe. By the middle 1700s many of the more venturesome risked the poison and relished the taste.

Maybe they had a different variety in Europe, but tomatoes stayed poison in America until Tom Jefferson started his missionary work in 1781. Some residents of Louisiana started using the tomato for food as early as 1812 and the habit spread gradually and very slowly to the North-eastern states beginning about 1835.

Nobody was even sure whether the tomato was a fruit or vegetable. It took a U. S. Supreme Court decision, in 1893, to make it a vegetable for purposes of trade, largely because of its wide use in the main part of the meal and not in desserts as fruits generally are. The court, of course, took cognizance of the fact that it was already being used widely in appetizers and salads. The court thus overruled the botanists who said it was a berry and therefore a fruit. The potato's family name is Solanaceae and it does have some poisonous relatives.

The wild potato also flourished in Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia, and when Europeans first saw some in the Andean region in 1537 they got 'em mixed up with the truffles of the mushroom-toadstool clan which could also be poisonous, but the "apple of the earth" never traveled the rough road of tobacco or tomato. There is a story about an early adventurer who planted a patch of potatoes and when the vine matured had a dish prepared using the berries or seed balls, but this is probably a myth.

Another legend, less unbelievable, says Sir Francis Drake added some spuds to his ship's stores in the West Indies and left some in Ireland about 1588. They were no novelty to Europe even then, for mariners had taken them to Spain and Portugal before 1560, whence they migrated to other European countries.

A report considered authoritative says that in 1719 Scotch-Irish settlers from North Ireland settled at Londonderry, N. H., and began cultivating potatoes from stock they had brought with them. That's why they're still known as "Irish potatoes," especially in the South, to distinguish them from sweet potatoes.

Carl Schurz Given a Mission

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 27, 1865.

After speaking of the general unanimity with which the German element of the country favors universal suffrage, the Chicago Tribune says:

It is gratifying, in view of these facts, to learn that the leading representatives of the Germans of America, Maj. Gen. Carl Schurz, (of Milwaukee) whose steadfast devotion to the broadest principles of democracy, and especially upon the suffrage question, has been appointed by President Johnson to observe the workings of the reconstruction experiment in the South.

The President is stated to have accompanied the appointment with the full assurance that his policy in regard to a finality, and that he desired to be reliable and full. It is advised as to practical workings of the experiment. The selection of Carl Schurz for such a mission is equally honorable and creditable to the German people, to their great leader, and to the President.

What's Right Morally Isn't Necessarily Fitting and Proper

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In reply to the letter of Mr. James Marketti, July 30—although the issue has been settled I believe I should clarify and defend my position.

Mr. Marketti seems to believe that in my opposition to the repeal of 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Law I am also opposed to any restrictions on the individual. This is the farthest from what I meant. I stated that our society is one based upon the principle that men are free to do as they will as long as they do not violate the rights of others. Since this means that some restrictions are necessary because there will always be violators, I could not be opposed to the Bill of Rights, the Constitution, or any other legally passed federal law. The Bill of Rights was designed and is interpreted to protect individuals from infringement of their rights by other individuals—either corporate or single. These amendments are no mere listing of prohibitions but a code drawn up for the sake of protection. This is not the limiting of personal freedom to which I am opposed for I know that men cannot live in society without restrictions. These restrictions came about when man freely entered into a contract to establish a society. Thus these restrictions are the result of men freely expressing their desire to live together. These men knew that there would be violators and that laws were necessary to protect the law abiding. This type of restriction I do not oppose for no man can deny the need of restrictions against abusive and destructive actions. Thus I must say that Mr. Marketti has "made an error in judgment" and has drawn conclusions without understanding completely the scope of my statements.

The use of Msgr. Higgins statement was very good. I agree completely with him in the general tone of his remarks. He said, "Likewise, the common good of industrial society may demand that individuals conform to rules laid down for the common good." What is the common good? In his opinion the common good would be served by the repeal of 14 (b). In my opinion and the opinions of many others more learned than I the common good would be served by the retention of this section. Thus, while our concern is the same and our objectives the same, our means to the end differ. Each of us must, therefore, decide which path we will walk and the position we will uphold.

Mr. Marketti states that the Rev. J. Edward Carothers was speaking to the House on behalf of the National Council of Churches. This is questionable for no poll had been taken of the members of the Council to determine the majority. He was speaking for himself and the General Board. Since this matter was so long in coming to the floor for debate, I wonder why the General Board did not attempt to discover the majority opinion of groups it represents. While I firmly believe the clergy should speak out on matters of social and political import, I do not believe they should claim more authority than has been vested in them.

Mr. Marketti states that the repeal will not result in a law demanding union membership. I agree with this for the repeal will not establish such a law. However, the practices of certain national unions in membership drives and the federal restrictions against employers explaining their case against unionization (once union activity has started) leaves no doubt as to future action. The repeal will not automatically demand all workers to join the union but it will set the stage for such action in the future.

George Meany is quoted, by Mr. Marketti, as an expression of the ideas of those favoring repeal. I purposely did not quote national business or management leaders because their ideas are naturally biased towards one side as are Mr. Meany's. To quote Mr. Meany is not to express an opinion arrived at after deliberation of an unbiased nature.

Mr. Marketti took, perhaps justifiably, my use of propriety to mean "fitting and proper." This is not what I meant for this would place me on the side of those who believe in situation ethics, i.e., the circumstances decide right and wrong. This is not now nor can it ever be my position. What is a correct and ethical act is always such regardless of whether or not it is fitting and proper. Very often in our daily lives we must do things that are not considered fitting and proper by the society in which we are moving. We must always act according to what our will (dedicated to the best of our ability) demands regardless of the judgment of society. Therefore what is fitting and proper may not be moral or ethical.

Finally, Mr. Marketti states, "It is even more difficult for me to understand Mr. Mueller's opposition on moral grounds." If he cannot understand my position on moral grounds we have reached a point where the discussion must end for discussions cannot be carried on on different levels. However, Mr. Marketti quotes moralists in opposition to my position. Could it be that he cannot understand their position on moral grounds also? I can understand and appreciate opposition for every issue has two sides. I cannot, however, understand one who opposes me but claims to not really know what I am saying or why I am saying it.

Wisconsin Report

Inside Story of State Political Life Would Be Interesting Book

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A burgeoning market for the American book publishing industry has been opened by the willingness of assistants of the mighty and powerful in the national government to reveal the most intimate details of their employers' acts and thoughts for the delectation of a curious public.

Wyngaard

This curious trade may be welcomed, or condemned, according to taste. At the least, there is probably a vast puzzlement about the propriety of such practices and especially when they come so soon after the death or retirement of national leaders and touch most sensitive questions of international relations and security.

In a provincial view, there may also be some demand for the hitherto secret details of local politics and government, on the basis of the Washington precedents. This reporter has watched governors and U.S. senators and many other of the highest men in Wisconsin public life and government, for example, but usually at a discreet arm's length. Perhaps there is a market for the diaries and intimate recollections of the otherwise anonymous men and women who flanked them as they rose to power and exercised it?

Surely the confidential secretaries, executive assistants and campaign managers would have fascinating stories to tell, as against those of the professional reporter whose job in its very nature keeps him a couple of steps removed.

LEGEND VS. FACT

There is Philip Drotning, for example, who for nearly a decade was the alter ego to two recent and successful and interesting Republican governors. He could relate more than is yet known about why they made certain appointments, how certain policy proposals were decided upon, how nominations were won, and the terms of the alliances entered into in the exigencies of party politics.

There is Maurice Coakley, now the attentive Madison agent of a major Wisconsin industrial association, who is one of the only survivors of the inner circle of the late Gov. Julius P. Heil, altogether one of the most unusual personalities who ever trod the political stage. And venerable Frak Graess of Sturgeon Bay, once the auxiliary governor of the state, in effect, when he was the principal and most trusted aide to the late Gov. Goodland, aged and ailing, but who served for five meaningful years, nevertheless. There are men who were close to the late Sen. McCarthy, than whom there was no more interesting national personality with Wisconsin roots in this century, at least. The inside story of the dissolution of the LaFollette Progressive movement, the rise of the Young Turks who built the powerful Wisconsin Democratic Party of today—the Wisconsin political story cries out for the manuscript of the insider who will tell all, without regard to the confidential nature of his knowledge.

GUARDED

There is a tacit rule in Wisconsin about the protection of the confidentiality of official correspondence and papers of public men—including governors—through the services of the State Historical Society. It may be that the custom of restricted access to the files of governors and others that are usually entrusted to the Society suggests a different—if not preferable—ethical standard on such matters in local practice.

Some day some of the legendary mysteries in Wisconsin politics may be resolved, as time waives access restrictions. It may become known why one governor mysteriously passed over a man who was thought to be his best friend for an appointment to the Supreme Court, why one prominent university president was fired and another later was induced to resign, why one recent governor after many years in the legislature without a word of comment on the subject insisted upon a punitive lobbying control after he left the legislative chamber, etc. etc. etc.

Often Bad Motives Pollute Good Works

Purely Personal Prejudices: The hardest persons to advise, restrain or correct are those who are doing the right thing for the wrong reason—it is impossible to make them see that bad motives pollute good works.

Labor-saving devices are downright dangerous to a society, unless the labor that is saved is utilized in some creative and growing way, and not just dispersed in torpidity and triviality.

A letter which begins, "I don't quite know how to say this . . ." is always unpleasant and usually dishonest.

We all know about the people who "can't stand success"; less widely recognized, those who can't stand the closeness of love—no sooner do they achieve it than they must do all they can to jeopardize it.

No food is "good for" a child unless the child can be motivated to want it; food has a psychological as well as a bodily effect upon us, and the psychological harm often lasts longer than the bodily good.

Whenever I see a convicted entertainer, it reminds me of George Eliot's prescient remark: "It has always seemed to me a sort of clever stupidity only to have one sort of talent like a carrier pigeon."

It's lucky for literature that censors are generally the most ignorant members of the community; for if they understood the extent of Shakespeare's bawdiness, they would work relentlessly to have him banned from every library in the land.

"Ethical standards" are what we expect our competitors to adhere to; "workable practices" are what we ask of ourselves.

With the windows open in summer time, I recall Logan Pearsall Smith's observation: "What music is more enchanting than the voices of young people when you can't hear what they say?"

The paradox of a city like New York is that while it is the most sophisticated city in the nation, its very awareness of its sophistication makes it provincial.

Few people are "doubters" throughout; their skepticism in one area is balanced by their blind belief in another—the man who doubts such a thing as "providence" has an abiding faith in "progress," which has no more basis in reason.

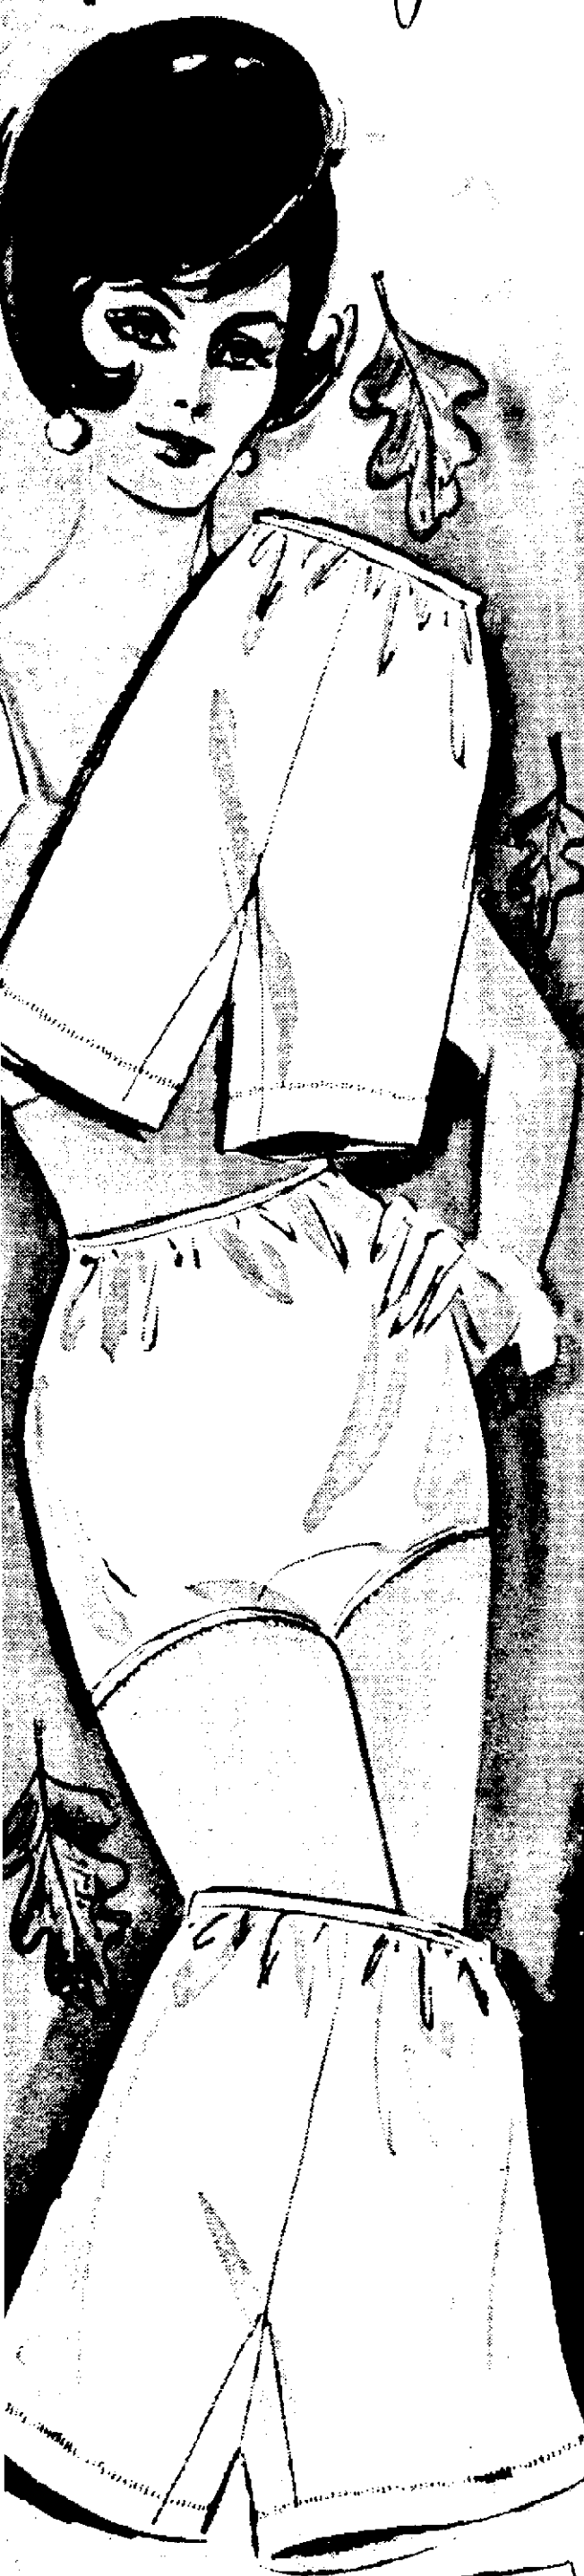

As a prime example, Einstein rejected the cosmologies of all orthodox religions, yet died clinging passionately to his unaided belief that "the cosmos, for which no scientific evidence had been found."

Delaying Bills Preceded Passage

Latest Civil Rights Act Product of Obstruction

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1965 Civil Rights Act, now approved by Congress, is the child of delay and obstruction, the fourth of its kind in eight years. But this one is stronger than the rest and should work better.

The three earlier acts, among other things, were aimed at protecting Negroes' rights by enabling them to vote, particularly in the South. The new measure deals only with voting rights. The delay in reaching the goal is typical of what happened to Negroes for more than half a century.

For decades after the Supreme Court in 1896 declared it constitutional to segregate the Negro, he remained the shoved aside man in American life and continued that way pretty much until after World War II.

Until then any government action to treat him equally or protect his rights came almost entirely from the Supreme Court which bit by bit began to undo the 1896 segregation decision.

FDR Administration

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration recommended no civil rights legislation — and Congress enacted none — but in 1941 he did crack down a bit on discrimination by companies and unions doing government work.

The change began in 1946 when President Harry S. Truman created a committee on civil rights to see how protections for Negroes could be improved. In 1948 the committee proposed laws against discrimination in voting, among other things.

In the 1948 presidential campaign Truman promised civil rights legislation if he won. He did and tried to make good in 1949 but Southern senators filibustered his civil rights bill to death.

He also ordered equality of treatment in the armed forces. This took time. And it wasn't until 1962 that the Defense Department called for abolition of all-white and all-Negro units in the reserves.

School Decision

The great watershed in civil rights came on May 17, 1954 when the Supreme Court, overturning the 1896 ruling, banned segregation in public schools and declared segregation unconstitutional.

The court has followed a straight line ever since in wiping out segregation.

But it wasn't until the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1957 that Congress passed a civil rights act, the first since 1875.

It was mild, with delay and frustration built into it. It created a Civil Rights Commission permanently and, among other things, sought to protect Negro voting rights.

Under a 19th century law a Negro who felt discriminated against because of his color lion program will add more when he tried to vote could appeal to a federal court. This was present facility, the firm said.

a slow process and something few Negroes could afford.

The 1957 act said the attorney general could help out by filing a suit for the government in such a case. It proved so slow that in 1960 the Civil Rights Commission wanted the law improved.

It suggested the federal government be allowed to appoint registrars to register Negroes when local registrars refused. This got sidetracked until now. The idea is built into the 1965 act.

So Congress passed another act in 1960. This one would let a federal court, after a suit, order a Negro registered if it found a pattern of discrimination. This was a long way around. Some suits took years.

In 1961 the Civil Rights Commission had another idea: Ban literacy tests used to prevent Negro voting. This was made part of the 1965 act, too.

Meanwhile, in 1964 Congress approved its third civil rights law. This tried to improve on the 1960 act by narrowing down the way in which Southern registrars could use literacy tests to prevent Negro voting. Still slow.

Treatment of Negroes

President Johnson asked Congress in person for still another and better civil rights act last March after the nation was shocked by the treatment given Negro demonstrators in Selma, Ala., by State Police and a local posse.

The House finally approved it Tuesday, the Senate Wednesday. And now it goes to Johnson to be signed into law. It's the strongest of all the voting acts.

It would suspend the use of literacy tests in much of the South and let the federal government take over the registration of voters where less than 50 per cent of the voting age population voted in 1964. This affects the South most.

While Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach this year explained to Congress why this new act was needed, he said all previous procedures through the lower courts were too slow, and with plenty of ways left to dodge a court order.

To show how little progress the Negro has made in voting in the South he said that between 1958 and the 1964 presidential election in Alabama the number of Negroes registered to vote had increased only 5.2 per cent to a total of 19.4 per cent of those eligible. He gave other figures for other states, some showing not even that much progress.

Penneys to Expand Milwaukee Outlet

NEW YORK (AP) — J. C. Penney Co. announced Tuesday plans for major expansion of its Milwaukee catalog distribution center serving 12 midwestern and eastern states. The $5 million program will add more than 600,000 square feet to the present facility, the firm said.

Threatened Narcotics Arrest

'Dead Man' Accuses Police of Shakedown

NEW YORK (AP) — A voice from the grave accuses a New York City detective and a federal narcotics agent of plotting to shake down a crime syndicate figure under threat of a phony narcotics arrest.

Telephone conversations between the officers and ex-convict Joseph Kadlub — later slain by a policeman after Kadlub shot to death an officer — were taped for two newspapermen, they reported.

Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Aaron E. Koota said transcripts of the tapes will be made available to a grand jury investigating the allegations.

Slain Saturday

The New York Journal-American said in a copyright story Tuesday that Kadlub, 39, had exposed the alleged plot to the newspaper a few days before he was slain last Saturday.

Kadlub said the detective and the narcotics agent, neither of whom has been identified publicly, forced him to act as a go-between in a plot to shake down Carmine (Sonny) Persico, 31, named by authorities as a Brooklyn and Long Island Cosa Nostra figure.

The Journal-American said Kadlub approached the newspaper with his story July 27. He was quoted as saying one more felony conviction would make him liable to life imprisonment as a four-time loser, and "that's what the cops and the feds are holding over my head — I'm caught right in the middle."

Met in Phone Booth

Kadlub, the newspaper said, taped conversations with the detective and federal agent in a sidewalk telephone booth near the newspaper plant. The tapes reportedly concerned a plot to shake down Persico for $2,000 a month.

The Journal-American said Kadlub, after much persuasion, made an appointment to go to Koota's office Monday.

The newspaper quoted Kadlub as saying: "I'm gonna be hit (killed) by a cop or a fed. Believe me, I know what I'm talking about."

Dom Frasca, Journal-American Sunday city editor, signed a note and gave it to Kadlub to carry. The note — addressed to the detective and narcotics agent — said: "This is to let you know I have tapes which are going to be used if anything happens to Joseph Kadlub." Koota told newsmen the note was found at Kadlub's home after his death.

'Camelot' Brings Out Talent in Junior Group

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

OSHKOSH—The youngsters of the Oshkosh Junior Theater have done it again. They have brought in a music drama with class.

In the hands of music and drama director Larry Klausch the Lerner and Loewe classic "Camelot" has been given a rewarding production which can not fill the old Grand Theater to the brim the rest of the week through Saturday night.

His pit orchestra, singers, dancers and actors all meet the standards preceding musicals have set and Judy Britton and John M. Koebel have provided the proper setting for the achievement as this season's producers.

Challenging Roles
"Camelot" is no small thing to tackle. It has a demanding score for the singers and a sensitive script for the actors. There is much more substance than romp in it, a real challenge for the dedicated players.

East Coast To Rockies Remains Wet

Thunderstorms and showers continued today in areas along the East Coast and from the Rockies into the adjacent Plains but mostly dry weather was reported in other parts of the nation.

Rain fell in some of the drought-stricken areas of the Northeast but amounts generally were not heavy. More than one inch of rain fell in Baltimore and more than 1/4 inch in Philadelphia.

Four inches of rain drenched areas in southeastern Kansas with water reported flooding a highway between Hugoton and Rola.

Storms in South
Earlier, stormy weather lashed coastal states from North Carolina to Texas and thundershowers splashed scattered mountain sections from Colorado to Montana.

Damaging wind, rain and hail storms which hammered parts of Iowa and Illinois Wednesday ended. Damage to crops, mostly corn and tomatoes, in the quad cities area of Davenport in Iowa and Rock Island, Moline and East Moline across the Mississippi River in Illinois, was estimated at $1 million. The region had been hard hit by spring floods.

Warm weather prevailed over much of the southland and temperatures ranged from cool to mild in the northern areas. Lowest readings were in the 50s from Pennsylvania mountain areas to Maine. Early morning marks ranged from 44 at Montpelier, Vt., to 91 at Blythe and Thermal, Calif.

Despite the large cast, the show really belongs to four roles: Arthur, Guenevere, Lancelot and Pellinor. And what a quartet Klausch has to work with.

As Guenevere there is Chris Anania, a dew-fresh beauty with a magnificent voice and endowed with that indispensable intangible of presence. Only a great deal of restraint prevents a freshet of superlatives to spill over her and her performance. She's fine!

Sensitive Co-Star
While no one in the cast comes close to matching her, Bill O'Brien turns in a most intelligent and sensitive performance in the demanding role of Arthur. His interpretation, it seemed, was much more sympathetic and moving than the portrayal "Mike Hammer" essayed for the Fox Cities in the road "Camelot."

Dale Klitzke proves to be a rather spry old man, but a perfect King Pellinor nevertheless, with fine comedic timing and good ensemble work. Of course, Robbie the sheepdog steals his single scene as Horrid, Pellinor's questing pointer.

The thankless job of being an overbearing fly in the ointment is handled well by John Hubertus as the great voiced Lancelot. Jack Kuester is aptly slimy as the major villain Mordred while strikingly blonde Sue Miller makes a most beguiling Morgan Le Fay.

With the exception of the enchanted Morgan Le Fay scene, Sallie Wonsler's choreography allows concern with precision to override exuberance and imagination. It's a pitfall that traps much more seasoned troupers as well.

Despite 17 scenes, the production moves at a good pace. The settings and costumes are colorful and apt, although opening night developed some hesitancy in the lighting.

The production has several big moments, both in music and drama, and the youngsters make the most of every one. "Camelot" is another coup for the Junior Theater, but even if it were flawed, the performances of O'Brien and Miss Anania would make it a must. Be advised. The old walls of the Grand again are housing rich entertainment and high drama.

Caribbean Methodists Ask for U. S. Pastors For Missionary Work

The Methodist Board of Missions has received a request from the Caribbean church for six to eight experienced Methodist ministers from the U. S. to serve for two years as missionary pastors in various situations in the West Indies, starting this fall.

Pastors are needed for a broad program of service in inner city and rural situations in Jamaica, Antigua, Barbados, Trinidad and Haiti. They will have to work with interracial congregations.

Applicants must be seminary graduates, have three to eight years' experience and be willing to take a leave of absence from work in the U. S.

Inquiries may be addressed to: Office of Missionary Personnel, Methodist Board of Missions, 475 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y., 10027.

Shows Are Expected Tonight over the Great Lakes and from the northern plains eastward into the upper Mississippi valley, extending southwestward into New Mexico and Arizona. It will be milder over the Northeast and Pacific Northwest. Cooler readings will prevail over much of the nation. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Rising Sun Meets Blanket of Fog For Second Day

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin had considerable fog this morning for the second straight day but the warmth of the rising sun dissipated rapidly. The weather was mostly fair and warm after the fog lifted. High temperatures Wednesday ranged from 82 at Lone Rock to 69 at the Milwaukee airport, where winds off Lake Michigan kept it cool. The Beloit-Rockford area had 81. Madison, Eau Claire, and the Superior-Duluth area 80, La Crosse, Green Bay and Park Falls 79, Wausau 78 and Racine 76.

Low temperatures during the night ranged from 51 at Madison to 64 in the Beloit-Rockford area.

The nation's high Wednesday was 112 at Imperial, Calif. The low during the night was 41 at Elko, Nev., and Montpelier, Vt.

Soloist to Replace Injured Pianist at Music Festival

FISH CREEK — Because of an injury to pianist Richard Cass, Julius Katchen will replace the young American artist as guest soloist for the Saturday, Aug. 14 concert at the 12th annual Peninsula Music Festival here.

Cass suffered a fractured wrist in an accident early in June and had hoped it would be healed sufficiently for him to appear at the festival. Festival Director Thor Johnson was informed today by Cass' manager that the wrist still caused him so much pain he would be unable to play.

Dr. Johnson immediately contacted Katchen, who agreed to the last minute substitution. He will sandwich his appearance here into a projected trip from Europe to California.

Opens Saturday
The 12th annual festival opens here Saturday night and runs through Sunday, Aug. 2. Tickets for all concerts are on sale at Newman's in Appleton and at the Ephraim Pioneer Schoolhouse. If any seats remain, they will be available at the Gibraltar High School box office prior to each event.

Cass had been designated as the recipient of this year's Vera Wardner Douglas award. He will receive it in absentia and will make his guest artist appearance at a later festival, probably in 1966.

Katchen, a native of Long Branch, N.J., was born in 1926. He studied piano in New York and made his debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra at the age of 11 in 1937.

International Reputation
A 1945 graduate of Haverford College, Katchen toured Palestine the next year and then settled in Paris. He has toured widely in Europe and has also appeared less frequently in the United States. The 39-year-old pianist has an international reputation as a concert artist, recitalist and recording performer.

The substitution has also resulted in another last minute change in the program for Saturday, Aug. 14. Originally scheduled to play the Grieg A Minor Concerto, Cass had requested a change to the Chopin Second because of the wrist injury.

Katchen, however, will revert to the original idea and perform the Grieg with the festival orchestra.

Cure for Cancer Stories Popular With Women

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve hundred career women, asked to pick their preference among news stories, said they'd most like to read about a cure for cancer.

The poll, to determine the range of women's interest in newspaper stories, was conducted last week during the annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Clubs. The results were announced Wednesday.

Small Doses of Allergen May Not Upset Sufferer

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about food allergies?

My 13-year-old daughter has sniffles and sneezes and to ascertain the cause the doctor made tests which showed she has a tendency to be allergic to the following: Milk (she loves it), corn oil, beef, eggs and chicken. — Mrs. M. P.

Allergy, in one degree or another, is one of the commonest of ailments — a hypersensitivity.

It can be sensitivity to something you breathe (hay fever), or touch (contact dermatitis, detergent hands, etc.), something you eat, or even such things as sun, cold, etc.

The best solution is to avoid whatever allergen affects you, if possible. This applies to food allergies, too.

Add Up
Allergic reactions have a tendency to add up. You may be able to stand a little of something, but a lot of it touches off the allergy. Or you may be allergic to a number of things. If you encounter several of them at the same time, trouble may result even though, singly, the same things do not offend.

Eggs and milk are rather frequent foods involving allergy. While milk is valuable, if it proves to bother your daughter, you can, of course, find other ways of getting its nutrients into her system.

One way to study such a case is to withdraw all of the suspected foods. If the sniffles and sneezes stop, then you can cautiously begin adding the foods one at a time and for a week or two, until you form a workable knowledge of which ones she can eat in moderation, and which ones she had better avoid entirely.

Dr. Molner

In this case, beef, chicken and eggs cut rather deeply into the sources of protein, and growing youngsters especially need plenty of it.

Once you have an idea of the severity of sensitivity to various things, you can begin to find out which ones may be eaten if care is taken not to get too much.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a navel hernia? Is the mother to blame? I am asking this for a woman whose child is very resentful. — F. A. L.

A navel hernia isn't as a rule a world-shattering problem. Usually it is trivial. It is never the mother's fault. It is one of the many accidents that people have to contend with — and if that were the worst problem, Utopia would be here now. It's about like a child complaining because he has a big nose, and it's his mother's fault because she has a big nose. So where did she get her big nose?

There's something very wrong with the child's attitude. Is the mother making an issue of this? If the hernia is bothersome, it can be corrected by surgery.

Yes, this is quite common in persons over 40. That is why the blood sugar test is a more accurate means of detecting diabetes than the urine test. Of course, when diabetes is under control with diet and insulin or other medication, the urine can be kept reasonably free of sugar.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Aug. 5, the 217th day of 1965. There are 148 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1864, a fleet led by Adm. David Farragut invaded Mobile Bay under heavy fire from land, floating mines and the ironclad ram Tennessee. Lashed to the rigging, Farragut gave his immortal command, "Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead." At the end of the battle, the Confederacy's last outlet on the Gulf of Mexico was closed. On this date in 1884, the cornerstone of the Statue of Liberty was laid in New York Harbor. In 1892, Congress passed a bill for the coinage of five million half-dollars as souvenirs of the World's Columbian Exposition. In 1912, Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for the presidency by the Progressive party. In 1914, British nurse Edith Cavell was arrested as a spy; she later was executed by the Germans.

two central areas of the country—was announced today. Its purpose is to expedite and coordinate the role of U.S. troops in supporting the Vietnamese war effort.

Maj. Gen. Stanley L. Larsen, will head the command, to be known as Task Force Alpha. Its headquarters will be at Nha Trang, on the coast 200 miles northeast of Saigon, and its area includes the central highlands where strong Viet Cong forces along with units of the North Vietnamese army have been reported building up for months.

Scattered Viet Cong ground attacks were reported today. A U.S. spokesman listed these actions:

Outpost Attacked
An estimated 50-150 Viet Cong attacked the Suoi Cao outpost 35 miles northwest of Saigon, and inflicted "light" casualties on the defenders.

The Viet Cong fired 20 rounds of 81MM fire on Duc Long, 115 miles southwest of Saigon, and 30 rounds of mortar fire on Vildersdang.

Still, he warns, "the machine capital, Vietnamese casual-tyes were termed "heavy" in sense of moral values. Science: both towns. Some of the rounds alone does not create brotherhood of a government military hood of man. The mortar of headquarters at Vi Thanh, brotherhood must come from Guerrillas fired 20 rounds of mortar fire on Long My, an outpost near Vi Thanh, causing "light" losses among government troops.

The spokesman claimed 57 Viet Cong were killed in two government operations in central Viet Nam. He said 27 were killed in a sweep in Phu Yen province, 240 miles northeast of Saigon and the other 30 in Binh Dinh province, 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

Air War
In the air war in South Viet Nam, U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew near 300 sorties against suspected Viet Cong fortifications. Forward artillery observers reported 75 Viet Cong killed in the strikes but this was not confirmed by body count.

Military briefing officers reported relatively heavy raids during the night against targets in North Viet Nam. They gave this report:

Seventeen Navy planes attacked the Dai Thuong barracks area 65 miles northwest of Hanoi. Pilots reported 26 buildings destroyed and another damaged. All planes returned safely to the carrier Independence.

Barracks Bombed
Twelve U.S. Air Force F-105s attacked the Vinh army barracks hit by the same number of Air Force planes Wednesday. A total of 19 buildings were reported destroyed and 14 others damaged during the two missions.

All planes returned safely to base.

Four other F-105s extensively damaged the Lang Minh military area and a nearby bridge 95 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Fifteen Navy planes made five strikes during the night and hit vehicles, caves and buildings areas south of Hanoi.

Knowles Calls Skilled Work Force Conference

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Warren P. Knowles has called a conference Aug. 13 at Wausau to investigate shortages in Wisconsin's skilled work force.

The chief executive said the conference will be handled by the State Industrial Commission which has reported that vacancies exist in every trade.

"We must plan now," Knowles said, "to make sure the state has the skilled manpower resources needed to meet our growing economic base, both for the short and long runs."

Immigrant Seeks New Nursemaid

WINNECONNE (AP)—Gerardus Willems Van Dijk is engaged in another desperate search for a nursemaid to help take care of his six motherless children.

The Dutch immigrant, whose wife died in February of 1964, managed to arrange once through a complicated relay to his village priest in The Netherlands to Canada, for another immigrant, Miss Joan Van Den Berg, to enter the United States temporarily and look after the little ones.

However, Miss Van Den Berg's visa expired, and an extension obtained through special legislation introduced by Rep. Race, D-Wis., runs out Aug. 30 together in a family unit.

Distance Runners Congressmen Get Set New Record Allowance Boost

RIVER EDGE, N.J. (AP)—WASHINGTON (AP)—You More than 30 youngsters were running in circles today after claiming what they say is the American long-distance running marathon record of 3,100 miles.

The boys snapped the record Wednesday night and are still running — around the one-third mile track at Veterans Memorial Park.

The athletes, ranging in age from 14 to 21, began running in relays July 30 and hope to keep going until Friday night.

The marathon's purpose is to provide two more government-paid round trips for members to their home districts annually, or a total of five, and pay for two trips by the congressman's staff.

Increase by 20 per cent the allowance for long distance telephone calls and telegrams.

Double, to a total of $2,400, the allowance for rental of offices in the home district when free space is not available in government buildings.

Medical Insurance Gap Found Among Elderly

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(3rd in a series of 3 columns)

When the new Medicare law starts becoming effective July 1, 1966, it will begin to close the biggest single economic gap for the elderly American citizen today—the medical insurance gap.

So much is being written now about the details of 1965's historic legislation that there is danger we'll forget the funda-mentals that forced it onto our statute books. One fundamental I reported Wednesday: the overall financial plight of a vast majority of our elderly and thus their terror of illness for financial as well as physical and emotional reasons.

Porter

A second fundamental is: the appallingly limited amount of

Birth Control Clinics Open In Venezuela

Catholic Church Silent on Effort For Family Balance

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—“Look, I have eight children and we all live in one room. Where would I put another?” says the 31-year-old mother waiting in the clinic line.

She's one of 1,050 women now receiving contraceptive pills regularly at the government maternity hospital in Caracas.

Two thousand more women are awaiting approval of their applications to join Venezuela's first major attempt to control its 3.5 per cent annual birth rate, higher than the rates of India or China.

“We do not want to halt normal population growth but rather to achieve some balance in the Venezuelan family,” explains Dr. Dario Merchan Lopez, of the new Department of Birth Control.

Priority List

Dr. Merchan and his colleagues interview and examine applicants for the pills. Social workers investigate them and their families. Unmarried mothers with several children by different men, mothers whose husbands are jobless, and those with medical problems get priority.

In the same hospital an average 100 babies are born daily. Only 20 have wedded parents. Some of the rest are born to mothers who don't know the name of the father, and to girls so young they scarcely know how it happened.

An estimated 500,000 of Caracas' people live in one- or two-room shacks or tenement apartments. Illegitimate births are estimated at 65 per cent of the national total.

The Roman Catholic Church, although influential with the people and to some extent with the government, has remained silent on the effort of the Department of Birth Control.

One source of opposition is a husband. Some of them feel, growing segment of our many children indicate virility, and others just like children.

health insurance held by the elderly. Here's the grim documentation which will help put Medicare for the 65-and-over (and the taxes we, the under-65, will pay for it) in perspective.

Health Insurance

Only about half of our 65-and-over citizens today have any health insurance whatsoever and one in four have coverage regarded as adequate. Most policies for older people pay less than half of today's hospital room charges—not to mention doctor bills or expensive extras such as X-ray, diagnostic services, drugs, etc.

In contrast, more than 80 per cent of younger Americans are now covered by health insurance, usually more comprehensive than the coverage of the elderly.

The elderly who are least likely to have health insurance are understandably precisely those who need it most—the poor, the jobless, the ill, the very aged. One recent survey disclosed that 63 per cent of those in poor health have no insurance at all.

Cost High

Health insurance coverage for the elderly is expensive. A blue-ribbon private policy for an elderly couple costs about $500-$600 a year. Adequate coverage, it's estimated, would absorb 20 per cent of their average annual income, far more than the average percentage spent by American families on all medical expenses.

While group insurance is much less costly than an individual policy, it's usually closed to retired workers, and conversion rates to private policies are usually prohibitively expensive.

Medical problems and medical costs skyrocket with age. Medical costs for the over-65 today are twice as large as for the under-65 group. Hospital costs are 2 1/4 times as high. For those who must be hospitalized, the average cost is $1,000-$1,200—nearly half their average yearly income. Medical cost are among our fastest rising expenses.

Many Disabled

Four out of five elderly citizens have some disability or chronic illness—often requiring costly, continual drugs and treatment. A survey of medical costs by the Social Security Administration showed that for 11 per cent of all elderly couples, medical bills amounted to more than $1,000 a year.

Our national welfare bill has climbed relentlessly—despite our Social Security System, our general prosperity. One of the biggest reasons for this is the steep cost of medical care for the impoverished elderly. Today more than one-third of our total public assistance spending is for health. Today, three in five new welfare cases added to the rolls cite high medical costs as the main factor.

But now compulsory Medicare insurance has become law in our land—has been added to our compulsory Social Security insurance against loss of income because of retirement, crippling disability, the death of the family breadwinner.

As of July 1, 1966, 19 million elderly Americans will be provided with relief from enormous, often catastrophic medical bills. Millions of citizens also will be able to purchase, for the first time, modest private health insurance policies to fill the gaps in Medicare. The easing of economic pressure on the elderly will permit them to spend more on their other needs and wants and this will help stimulate the entire U.S. economy.

We have taken another giant step toward giving financial independence and dignity to a population.

Income in South Comes $6 Million Pledge Enables Pet Plan Of Four Schools

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Wages and salaries paid to workers in southeastern states amounted to $53.6 billion in 1964 or 67 per cent of total personal income.

The U.S. Department of Commerce reported the rest of the total $79.8 billion in personal income came from proprietors, income, property income, transfer payments and other labor income.

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—A pledge of $6 million has enabled four colleges and universities to start a special project—a new coeducational liberal arts college, called Hampshire College.

A joint announcement by Amherst, Smith and Mount Holyoke colleges and the University of Massachusetts said they will cooperate in establishing the new school on a 300-acre site.

The $6-million pledge came from Harold F. Johnson, retired New York attorney who will be a member of the school's board of trustees.

The announcement said Hampshire College will engage in promising experiments in the field of college education.

Longworth said the college is being set up to extend cooperation already started among the four schools in joint faculty appointments, library resources, student exchange, and use of an educational FM radio station

David Delaplaine, chairman of a committee which on Monday distributed petitions for signature, said opening to the public in January, the executive director of the application came from an El Cajon, Calif., girl. The girl was not identified.

Sightseers Tour Battleship Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—More than a quarter million sightseers have toured the battleship Alabama in Mobile Bay since its opening to the public in January.

The executive director of the Battleship Alabama Commission, Vice Adm. William V. Davis Jr. (ret.) said Tuesday.
